On August 15, 2002, Viragen, Inc. (the Company) was named as a defendant in a lawsuit filed by Medicore, Inc. in Circuit Court, Broward County, Florida (Medicore, Inc. vs. Viragen, Inc., Case No. 02-0147812). Medicore, the former parent of Viragen, is alleging breach of contract in relation to royalties it alleges are due from present and future sales of the Company's natural interferon product, which was independently developed by BioNative AB. BioNative was acquired by Viragen in September 2001 and subsequently renamed ViraNative.

The Company and Medicore, Inc. entered into a royalty agreement with respect to interferon, transfer factor and products using interferon and transfer factor in November 1986. The agreement was subsequently amended in November 1989 and May 1993. The agreement provides for a maximum cap on royalties to be paid to Medicore of $2,400,000. It includes a schedule of royalty payments of:

5% of the first $7,000,000 of sales,

4% of the next $10,000,000, and

3% of the next $55,000,000

These royalties are to be paid until the total of $2,400,000 is achieved. The agreement also states that royalties of approximately $108,000 previously accrued as payable to Medicore will be the final payment.

As noted in our Form 10-Q for the period ended March 31, 2002, sales of our natural interferon product totaled approximately $878,000. If it is determined that payment of the royalties is to be made, the amount owed on these sales would be approximately $44,000. This amount was not accrued for as of March 31, 2002.

The Company is evaluating the complaint filed by Medicore and is prepared to rigorously defend its position in this action.
