8

The calculation of the capital on full dilution was made on the basis of the assumption of full exercise of all the balance of the option warrants that were allotted by the Company and an allotment of the maximum possible number of the exercise shares pursuant to all the plans for an allotment of shares to employees that were published by the company.

However, the said assumption as to full exercise of all the option warrants and an allotment of the maximum possible number of exercise shares is only theoretical in respect of the plans for the allotment of options to the employees, in respect whereof the Company published immediate reports on 9th September 1998, 9th November 1999, 23rd November 2000, 17th July 2001 and 14th May 2002, and pursuant whereof the Company allotted options of which 5,309,058 options are still in force and are convertible into up to 5,309,058 shares of the Company. Pursuant to these plans, offerees who exercised the options will not be allotted the full shares deriving therefrom, but only shares in such number that reflects the amount of the pecuniary benefit embodied in the option warrants, and all as set forth in the said plans.
