Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In the “Preliminary Fourth Quarter Results” section above, the Company presents a preliminary estimate of its non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share for the quarter ended December 31, 2018. The Company cautions that non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share not be utilized in isolation, nor should it be considered as an alternative to net income per diluted common share computed in accordance with GAAP, or other measurements of results of operations computed in accordance with GAAP.

The table below presents a reconciliation between GAAP net income per diluted common share and non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share for the quarter ended December 31, 2018. Further information about this non-GAAP financial measure, and how management uses it, is set forth below these tables.

	Three Months Ended 12/31/2018
Estimated GAAP net income per diluted common share	($0.04) to ($0.01)
Estimated Non-GAAP Core earnings adjustments⁽¹⁾
Eliminate mark-to-market changes on long-term investments and associated derivatives ⁽²⁾	$0.40
Include cumulative gain (loss) on long-term investments sold, net ⁽³⁾	$0.04
Income tax adjustment associated with core earnings adjustments ⁽⁴⁾	($0.03)
Estimated Non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share ⁽⁵⁾⁽⁶⁾	$0.37 to $0.40

⁽²⁾ Adjustments eliminate the mark-to-market changes on the fair value of loans held-for-investment, trading securities, other investments, and associated derivatives that are primarily related to changes in benchmark interest rates and credit spreads.

(3) Adjustment includes in core earnings per diluted common share the cumulative net gains or losses on long-term investments accounted for as trading securities under GAAP that were sold during the period presented, net of any realized gains or losses from derivatives associated with the investments sold. Cumulative gains and losses are calculated by multiplying the difference between the sales price and original purchase price by the face value of the securities sold.

(4) Redwood applies estimated effective tax rates to core earnings adjustments occurring within Redwood's taxable REIT subsidiaries to estimate the hypothetical income tax expense or benefit associated with those adjustments.

(5) Consistent with the calculation of net income per diluted common share for GAAP purposes, non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share is calculated following the "two-class" method.

(6) Numbers may not foot due to rounding.

Core earnings per diluted common share is a non-GAAP measure of Redwood's earnings and results of operations. Specifically, management has defined core earnings per diluted common share as: GAAP net income per diluted common share adjusted to (i) eliminate the impact of quarterly mark-to-market changes on the fair value of Redwood's long-term investments (and associated derivatives) related to changes in benchmark interest rates and credit spreads, (ii) include the cumulative net gains or losses on long-term investments accounted for as trading securities under GAAP that were sold during the period presented, net of any gains or losses from derivatives associated with the investments sold, and (iii) include the hypothetical income taxes associated with these core earnings adjustments. To calculate core earnings per diluted common share, the Company follows the same methodology for calculating basic and diluted earnings per common share under GAAP, but adjust GAAP net income by the core earnings adjustments described above prior to applying that methodology.

Management utilizes this non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share measure internally as one way of analyzing Redwood's performance over multiple periods, as it believes it provides useful comparative results absent the impact of certain quarterly mark-to-market changes on investments held through the end of the period presented and inclusive of all realized gains and losses from securities sales.

Specifically, the quarterly mark-to-market changes in the value of the Company's long-term investments in loans, trading securities, and other investments, as well as the associated derivatives, resulting from changes in benchmark interest rates and credit spreads may not be reflective of the total return management would expect to earn from them over the longer-term.

Additionally, the adjustment to include cumulative net gains or losses from the sale of trading securities is to ensure that non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share presents consistently the impact of the sales of investments regardless of whether they are accounted for as (i) trading securities or (ii) available for-sale securities, in each case under GAAP, as outlined below.

Under GAAP, available-for-sale securities are reported at their fair value with periodic changes in fair value recognized through the balance sheet in shareholders' equity. When an available-for-sale security is sold, the cumulative gain or loss since purchase is recognized through the income statement, in realized gains, net, in the period the sale occurred. As a result, any such cumulative gains or losses are reflected in core earnings per diluted common share in the period the sale occurred.

Under GAAP, trading securities are reported at their fair value with periodic changes in fair value recognized through the income statement in Investment fair value changes, net. Certain of these periodic changes in fair value (as described above) are excluded from core earnings per diluted common share. Core earnings per diluted common share includes an adjustment to include the cumulative net gains or losses (from purchase through the sale of the investment) for sold trading securities in the period they are sold. The result is to consistently present within core earnings per diluted common share the cumulative gains or losses from the sale of long-term investments, regardless of how they are accounted for under GAAP.

Non-GAAP core earnings per diluted common share also includes adjustments to show the hypothetical tax provision or benefit that would be associated with the core earnings adjustments. As a Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT), the Company is subject to income taxes on earnings generated at its taxable REIT subsidiaries (TRS) and generally not subject to income taxes on earnings generated at the REIT (to the extent the Company distributes its REIT taxable income as dividends). In order to present the hypothetical income taxes associated with core earnings adjustments, estimated effective tax rates are applied to the core earnings adjustments occurring within the Company's TRS.
