Wall Street Web, Inc.
Notes To Financial Statements

NOTE 1 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Nature of operations. Wall Street Web, Inc. ("Wall Street") operated as a sole proprietorship under the name Thomas Melillo DBA Stockrumors.com from December 1997 until April 1998 when it was incorporated in New Jersey as Wall Street Web, Inc. Wall Street gathers and compiles information from contacts at financial institutions and releases such information to subscribers, generally financial and stock market professionals, through its websites, www.stockrumors.com and www.brokercall.com on a timely basis. The Stockrumors website provides the investing public with information concerning rumors regarding stocks and stock markets. The Brokercall website allows the investing public to view analyst upgrades and downgrades on companies.

Use of estimates. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents. For purposes of the cash flow statement, Wall Street considers highly liquid investments with maturities less than 90 days as cash and cash equivalents.

Revenue recognition. Revenues are generated through the sale of subscriptions, advertising banners, and sponsorships on Wall Street's websites. Subscription revenues are generally collected in advance on a monthly, quarterly, semi-annual, or annual basis. Advertising revenues are generally derived from agreements that provide for monthly fees and guarantee advertisers a specified monthly utilization rate for Wall Street's websites and additional advertising time if there is a utilization shortfall. Subscription and advertising revenues are recognized over their respective periods of the related subscription and advertising agreements. Unearned fees, including fees related to utilization shortfalls, are included in deferred revenue in the accompanying balance sheet.

Depreciation is currently being provided on the property and equipment used by Wall Street using the straight line method over an estimated useful life of three to seven years for all computers, equipment, and furniture.

Income Taxes. Wall Street recognizes deferred tax assets and liabilities based on differences between the financial reporting and tax basis of assets and liabilities using the enacted tax rates and laws that are expected to be in effect when the differences are expected to be recovered. Wall Street provides a valuation allowance for deferred tax assets for which it does not consider realization of such assets to be more likely than not.

Basic and diluted loss per common share is calculated by dividing the net loss by the weighted average shares outstanding. There are no dilutive securities.

Stock options issued to employees are accounted for by following Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and related interpretations, and by following the disclosure requirements of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 123, Accounting for Stock Based Compensation, which established a fair-value-based method of accounting for stock-based compensation plans. Stock options issued to other than employees are accounted for by following Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 123.

Recently issued accounting pronouncements. Wall Street does not expect the adoption of recently issued accounting pronouncements to have a significant impact on Wall Street results of operations, financial position or cash flow.

In the year ended April 30, 2002, Wall Street sold 145,500 shares of common stock to various investors through private placements for total proceeds of $98,000.

NOTE 6 - STOCK WARRANTS

Wall Street issued 3,376,000 Class A Warrants for the year ended April 30, 2001. 2,666,000 were issued as a dividend, 665,000 were issued for services performed by outsiders, and 45,000 were issued in connection with the sale of common stock.

On October 25, 2000, the board of directors declared a dividend consisting of .25 warrants for each share outstanding as of October 18, 2000. On October 18, 2000, there were 10,664,000 shares of common stock outstanding resulting in a dividend of 2,666,000 warrants. Each warrant has a $1 exercise price and expires three years from the date of issuance.

On October 25, 2000, 665,000 warrants were issued to outside consultants for services. Using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model, $79,800 of consulting expense was recognized for these issuances. Each warrant has a $1 exercise price and expires three years from the date of issuance.

Between January 2001 and April 2001, 45,000 warrants were issued in connection with the sale of 27,500 shares of common stock. A value of $.01 was assigned to each warrant and credited to additional paid in capital. Each warrant has a $1 exercise price and expires three years from the date of issuance.

Wall Street issued 903,000 Class A Warrants for the year ended April 30, 2002. 735,000 were issued for services performed by outsiders, and 168,000 were issued in connection with the sale of common stock.

In fiscal 2002, 168,000 warrants were issued in connection with the sale of 140,500 shares of common stock. A value of $.01 was assigned to each warrant and credited to additional paid in capital. Each warrant has a $1 exercise price and expires three years from the date of issuance.

In fiscal 2002, 735,000 warrants were issued to outside consultants for services. Using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model, $198,450 of consulting expense was recognized for these issuances. Each warrant has a $1 exercise price and expires three years from the date of issuance.

Wall Street uses FASB Statement 123 to determine compensation expense for warrants issued to non-employees. Compensation expense is based on the fair value at the grant dates for awards under those plans consistent with the Black-Scholes option-pricing model suggested by FASB Statement 123. During the years ended April 30, 2002 and 2001, warrants issued to non-employees were valued at $198,450 and 79,800 respectively.

Such estimates and assumptions affect the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. On an ongoing basis, management of the Company evaluates estimates and assumptions based upon historical experience and various other factors and circumstances. The Company believes its estimates and assumptions are reasonable in the circumstances; however, actual results may differ from these estimates under future conditions.

Financial Software, Inc.
(formerly Wall Street Web, Inc.)
Notesto Unaudited Condensed Financial Statements For the six and three months ended October 31, 2002

It acquired the software in an arms length transaction for its own shares and a note with a total value of $1,398,020. The value of the software was determined at an arms length based upon commonly accepted industry standard cost estimates for writing and debugging software on a per line of code basis that had been used by the buyer previously, in determining the cost of developing its own software, and by consulting with various experts during negotiation in order to verify that the per line code cost estimates used by the buyer were accurate in respect to the industry as a whole, and finally, through negotiation with the seller.

On November 19, 2002, the Company was acquired by the Rhombic Corporation ("Rhombic"). Rhombic plans to expand the business of FSI with new management. It intends to incorporate all of the functionality of the Market Center product into the core business of Financial Software Inc. and utilize all of the possibilities offered by centralized database management, web access, client profiling and sales force automation.

NOTE 5 - NOTE PAYABLE

The Company has a $275,000 note payable accruing interest at 8% per annum. The note was issued in conjunction with the Company's acquisition of the software. The monthly principal and interest payments due under the note are $16,258 maturing on April 30, 2004.

Principal and interest payments are not due, although accrued, under the note until the Company is able to demonstrate sufficient positive cash flow to make such payments or is able raise sufficient capital through the sale of stock and/or notes to raise a minimum of four times the monthly payment due under the note.

NOTE 6 - ISSUANCE OF COMMON STOCK

On October 29, 2002 the Company issued 9,028,000 restricted common shares at approximately $.125 per share at a deemed value of $1,123,020 for software applicable to the operating business. The acquisition included a $275,000 note to the seller in addition to the restricted common shares.

This transaction did not result in the seller receiving a board position or majority voting power of the Company.

NOTE 7 - SUBSEQUENT EVENT

On November 5, 2002, the Company filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a statement whereby it withdrew its previously filed Form SB-2 and simultaneously filed a Form 15, thereby withdrawing from its reporting requirements under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 in reliance upon Rule 12g-4(a)(1)(i).

Edgar Filing: RHOMBIC CORP - Form 8-K/A

On November 19, 2002, all of the outstanding stock of the Company was acquired by Rhombic Corporation in exchange for 22,000,000 restricted shares of Rhombic's common stock. Rhombic Corporation was the surviving company. Rhombic Corporation plans to dissolve Financial Software, Inc. and consolidate its operations.

RHOMBIC CORPORATION & FINANCIAL SOFTWARE INC. UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The following unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information gives effect to the acquisition of Financial Software Inc. ("FSI"), by the Company using the purchase method of accounting, after giving effect to the pro forma adjustments described in the accompanying notes. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet is based on the individual balance sheets of Rhombic Corporation as of October 31, 2002 and FSI as appearing elsewhere in this filing and have been prepared as if the acquisition of FSI had been effective October 31, 2002. The unaudited pro forma condensed combining statements of operations combines the individual statements of operations of Rhombic Corporation and FSI for the year ending December 31, 2001 and the ten month ended October 31, 2002 on the basis that the acquisition occurred on January 1, 2001.

The unaudited pro forma combined financial information reflects the application of the purchase method of accounting for the acquisition of FSI. Under this method of accounting, the purchase price was allocated to the assets acquired and the liabilities assumed based upon their estimated fair values at the closing. Estimates of the fair values of FSI assets acquired in the transaction have been combined with recorded values of the assets of Rhombic Corporation; however, changes to the adjustments included in the unaudited pro forma combined financial data are expected as evaluations of assets are completed and as additional information becomes available. Accordingly, the final pro forma combined amounts to be included in the year end audited financial statements of Rhombic may differ from those set forth herein.

Certain financial statement balances of FSI have been reclassified to conform with Rhombic's financial statement presentation.

The unaudited condensed combined financial information does not purport to be indicative of the operating results or the financial position that would have actually occurred if the acquisition had been in effect on the dates indicated, nor are they necessarily indicative of future operating results or financial position of the combined operations. The unaudited pro forma combined condensed information does not give effect to any cost savings or synergies that may result from the integration of FSI's assets acquired in the transaction and Rhombic's operations. No assurances can be given with respect to the ultimate level of revenues or cost savings.

RHOMBIC CORPORATION & FINANCIAL SOFTWARE INC.
NOTES TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED
COMBINED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1. Basis of Pro Forma Presentation

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements reflect the purchase of Financial Services Software, Inc. ("FSI"), a New Jersey corporation. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared under the purchase method of accounting. On November 11, 2002, Rhombic acquired FSI for 22,000,000 of Rhombic's restricted common shares at an agreed upon value of $1,088,950. Both parties agreed upon the value in an arms length transaction.

Under the purchase method of accounting, the total estimated purchase price as shown in the table above is allocated to the assets acquired based on their estimated fair values as of the date of completion of the merger. The preliminary estimated purchase price is allocated to the assets acquired as follows:

Assets acquired:

Marketable Securities	$ 26,775
Equipment	1,904
Intellectual property	1,398,020
Less: assumed liabilities	(337,749)

Total	$ 1,088,950

In accordance with the Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 142, "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets," goodwill and intangible assets with indefinite lives resulting from business combinations completed subsequent to June 30, 2001 will not be amortized but instead will be tested for impairment at least annually (more frequently if certain indicators are present). No goodwill or other intangible asset, except the intellectual property acquired, was created in the estimated fair value allocation of the purchase price.

Note 2. Intellectual Property

FSI acquired a software suite called Market Center during October of 2002 which has the following functions:

- Database
- Client Tracking
- Sales Force Organization
- Lead Categorization
- Web Integration
- Financial Aggregation
- E-Commerce Functionality

FSI acquired the software in an arms length transaction for its own shares and a note with a total value of $1,398,020.

Rhombic plans to expand the business of FSI with new management. It intends to incorporate all of the functionality of the Market Center product into its core business and exploit all of the possibilities offered by centralized database management, web access, client profiling and sales force automation.

RHOMBIC CORPORATION & FINANCIAL SOFTWARE INC. NOTES TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Rhombic is currently modifying the software for its planned mortgage brokerage and mortgage banking business in order to utilize all of the functions already developed in Market Center and merge them into a new program called FinanCenter. FinanCenter will automate processing and client update communication, allow for on-line completion of the mortgage application and completion of the funding process with the consumer.

FinanCenter is a base collaboration and communications platform designed to include both internal and external modules. Real estate professionals will be able to pick and choose the relevant modules to allow fully customizable and relevant information and applications for each client or member of the team. FinanCenter will allow for both internally constructed modules and partnering with outside firms for data as well as applications. FinanCenter will allow modules and data to be added and removed as appropriate and for varying levels of access between Rhombic, outside advisors, real estate organizations, additional team members and clients.

Note 3. Pro Forma Adjustments

Pro forma adjustments are necessary to reflect the estimated purchase price of FSI and to eliminate certain capital items of FSI. The net assets of FSI were recorded by the Company at their estimated fair value. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments for liabilities resulting from integration planning or other costs that may be associated with the integration of FSI with Rhombic.

The Company has not identified any pre-acquisition contingencies where the related asset or impairment is probable and the amount of the asset or impairment can not be reasonably estimated. Prior to the end of the purchase price allocation period, if information becomes available which would indicate it is probable that such events have occurred and the amounts can be reasonably estimated, such items will be included in the purchase price allocation.

Edgar Filing: RHOMBIC CORP - Form 8-K/A

The pro forma adjustments reflected in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined consolidated financial statements are as follows:

- (a) The purchase transaction was for the entire company of FSI. The agreed upon purchase price at arms length was $1,088,950 and was paid with restricted stock of Rhombic. The purchase price of the net assets of FSI was agreed upon in an arms length transaction and allocated accordingly. All common stock and accumulated deficit amounts on the books of FSI were eliminated and charged against additional paid in capital as part of the acquisition. Changes to the purchase price allocation including changes to recorded values of assets as a result of the acquisition may be necessary as evaluations of assets and operations are completed and as additional information becomes available. Accordingly, the final adjustments may differ from those presented.

The total of $2,130 was eliminated from the accumulated deficit and general and administrative expense for years 2001 and 2002 because the warrants were eliminated in the transaction with Rhombic.
