- When Sardar Biglari became CEO in August 2008, Steak n Shake's customer traffic was declining year-over-year by over 10%, cash flows were negative, and the company was out of compliance with its debt covenants. Its lenders demanded a reduction in its debt, and after all possible avenues had been exhausted, one lender stated in an e-mail to management: "We have done all we can." Under present management, Steak n Shake has experienced one of the great brand turnarounds in the history of the restaurant industry. For the quarter ending March 31, 2015, Steak n Shake achieved its 25th consecutive quarter of same-store sales growth.
