Corporate Governance Matters

Director Independence and Selection Process

The Company's Board of Directors has determined that each of Messrs. Harkavy, Lahey, Tatum and Whritner is an independent director in accordance with the definition of independent director under Nasdaq Marketplace Rule 4200(a)(15).

The Company qualifies as a controlled company as defined in Rule 4350(c)(5) of the Nasdaq Marketplace Rules because more than 50% of the Company's voting power is held by Geneve. Therefore, the Company is not subject to the requirements of Rule 4350(c) that would otherwise require the Company to have: (i) a majority of independent directors on the Board of Directors; (ii) compensation of the Company's executive officers determined by a majority of the independent directors or a compensation committee composed solely of independent directors; (iii) director nominees selected, or recommended for the Board of Directors selection, either by a majority of the independent directors or a nominating committee composed solely of independent directors; and (iv) adopted a formal written charter or board resolution addressing the nomination process and related matters.

In light of Geneve's voting power, the Board of Directors has determined that the Board of Directors, rather than a nominating committee, is the most appropriate body for identifying director candidates and selecting nominees to be presented at the Annual Meeting. The Board of Directors seeks candidates who will bring outstanding business experience that will benefit all of the stockholders of the Company. The Board of Directors has further determined that a policy with respect to consideration of candidates recommended by security holders would not be appropriate.

Board of Directors Meetings; Committees of the Board of Directors

The Company's Board of Directors held four meetings and took action by unanimous written consent twice in 2007. Each director attended at least 75% of the aggregate of: (i) the total number of meetings of the Board of Directors held during the period in which such person was a director; and (ii) the total number of meetings held by all committees of the Board of Directors on which such person served.

Directors are elected annually and serve until their successors are duly elected and qualified, or until their earlier resignation or removal; Mr. Niemeyer was appointed to the Company's Board of Directors in March 2008 by action of the full Board of Directors. Seven of the Company's directors were in attendance at the Company's 2007 Annual Meeting of Stockholders.

The Board of Directors has an Executive Committee, an Audit Committee, an Investment Committee and a Compensation Committee. The Executive Committee and the Audit Committee were established in June 2002, immediately following the Merger. The Compensation Committee was established in January 2004 and the Investment Committee was established in June 2004. The Executive Committee is comprised of one independent director, one non-employee director and one employee director. Each of the Audit Committee and the Compensation Committee is comprised exclusively of independent directors. The Investment Committee is comprised of one independent director and one non-employee director. The Company does not have a standing nominating committee or a nominating committee charter.

Executive Committee. The Executive Committee, which has all powers and authority of the Board of Directors with respect to the management of the business and affairs of the Company, currently consists of Messrs. Lapin, Edward Netter and Tatum. The Executive Committee did not hold any meetings or take any action by written consent in 2007.

Compensation Committee. The principal functions of the Compensation Committee are to: (i) develop corporate goals and objectives relevant to the compensation of the Company's President and Chief Operating Officer, evaluate the President and Chief Operating Officer's performance in light of such goals and objectives, and exercise sole authority to determine the President and Chief Operating Officer's compensation based upon such evaluation; (ii) make recommendations to the Board of Directors with respect to the compensation of the Company's other executive officers; and (iii) administer the Company's 2002 Employee, Director and Consultant Stock Plan (the "2002 Plan").

The Compensation Committee meets at least one time per year, and more often as the members of the Compensation Committee deem appropriate. The Compensation Committee operates under a written Compensation Committee Charter, a copy of which was attached as an exhibit to the Company's proxy statement dated June 29, 2007. Messrs. Harkavy, Tatum and Whritner are the current members of the Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee met four times in 2007.

Investment Committee. The principal function of the Investment Committee is to consider and make recommendations to the Board of Directors regarding investment opportunities and strategies for the Company with respect to the utilization of excess cash generated by the Company's normal business operations. Messrs. Edward Netter and Tatum are the current members of the Investment Committee, which met informally on numerous occasions in 2007.

Audit Committee. The Company established an Audit Committee of its Board of Directors in June 2002. The Audit Committee operates under an amended and restated Audit Committee Charter adopted by the Board of Directors in March 2004, a copy of which was attached as an exhibit to the Company's proxy statement dated November 22, 2006 (the Audit Committee Charter). The principal functions of the Audit Committee are to: (i) select and engage the Company's independent registered public accounting firm (independent auditors); (ii) review and approve management's plan for engaging the Company's independent auditors during the year to perform non-audit services and consider what effect these services will have on the independence of the Company's independent auditors; (iii) review the Company's annual financial statements and other financial reports which require approval by the Board of Directors; (iv) oversee the integrity of the Company's financial statements, the Company's systems of disclosure controls and internal controls and the Company's compliance with legal and regulatory requirements; (v) review the scope of the Company's independent auditors' audit plans and the results of their audit; and (vi) evaluate the performance of the Company's independent auditors.

The current members of the Audit Committee are Messrs. Lahey, Tatum and Whritner. Mr. Tatum is the Chairperson of the Audit Committee. Each of these individuals meets the independence requirements of NASDAQ and applicable SEC rules and regulations. The Audit Committee and the Board of Directors have determined that each member of the Company's Audit Committee is financially literate and that Mr. Tatum qualifies as an audit committee financial expert as defined by applicable SEC rules. The Audit Committee met five times in 2007.

Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

Messrs. Harkavy, Tatum and Whritner are the current members of the Compensation Committee. No member of the Compensation Committee has ever been an officer or employee of the Company. During 2007, (i) no executive officer of the Company served as a member of the board of directors or compensation committee of any entity that has one or more executive officers serving as a member of the Company's Compensation Committee; and (ii) no executive officer of the Company served as a member of a compensation committee of any entity that has one or more executive officers serving as a member of the Company's Board of Directors.

COMPENSATION DISCUSSION AND ANALYSISCompensation Objectives

For the named executive officers, compensation is intended to be performance-based. The Compensation Committee, which has responsibility for establishing the compensation for the Company's President and Chief Operating Officer and recommending the compensation for all of the Company's other named executive officers to the Board of Directors, believes that compensation paid to executive officers should be closely aligned with the performance of the Company on both a short-term and long-term basis, and that such compensation should assist the Company in attracting and retaining key executives critical to its long-term success.

In establishing compensation for executive officers, the following are the Compensation Committee's objectives:

Attract and retain individuals of superior ability and

managerial

Ensure senior officer compensation is aligned with the Company's corporate strategies, business objectives and the long-term interests of the Company's stockholders.

The Company's overall compensation program is structured to attract, motivate and retain highly qualified executive officers by paying them competitively, consistent with the Company's success and their contribution to that success. To this end, base salary and bonus are designed to reward annual achievements and to be commensurate with the executive's scope of responsibilities, demonstrated leadership abilities, and management experience and effectiveness. Other elements of compensation focus on motivating and challenging the Company's executives to achieve superior, longer-term, sustained results.

Implementation of Objectives

Base Salaries

The Company pays named executive officers, and other employees, base salaries to compensate them for services rendered during the fiscal year. Salaries for named executive officers are based on their responsibilities, prior experience and recent performance. Decisions regarding salary increases take into account a named executive officer's current salary, market conditions and the amounts paid to a named executive officer's peers within and outside the Company. Base salaries are typically reviewed on a 12-month or longer cycle, except where there is a significant change in the named executive officer's responsibilities during a shorter period of time. Such adjustments, if any, are determined by evaluating: (i) the scope of any new responsibilities; (ii) the competitive market value of a named executive officer's role; (iii) the performance of the individual; and (iv) the performance of the Company. Neither the Compensation Committee nor the Company has retained a compensation consultant or similar organization for assistance in determining the salaries to be paid to the named executive officers.

Annual Bonuses

Immediately following the end of the fiscal year, the Company's President and Chief Operating Officer reviews with the Compensation Committee the Company's estimated full-year results against the financial, strategic and operational goals established for the year, and the Company's performance in prior periods. After reviewing the actual results for the fiscal year, the Compensation Committee approves the bonus to be awarded to the Company's President and Chief Operating Officer and recommends to the Board of Directors total bonuses to be paid to all other named executive officers.

The Compensation Committee, with input from the Company's President and Chief Operating Officer, uses discretion in determining, for each named executive officer (other than the President and Chief Operating Officer), the current year's bonus, which is typically equal to a percentage of each such named executive officer's base salary. The Compensation Committee evaluates the overall performance of the Company and an assessment of each such named executive officer's performance against expectations, which were established at the beginning of the year.

The salaries paid and annual bonuses awarded to the Company's named executive officers are discussed below and shown in the Summary Compensation Table.

Equity Awards/Long-Term Incentive Compensation

The Company's 2002 Plan provides the opportunity for the Compensation Committee to award stock options or restricted stock grants to, among others, the Company's named executive officers. Stock options were granted in 2002 and 2003 and were intended to motivate future superior performance, align the interests of the named executive officers with those of the Company's stockholders and retain the named executive officers through the term of the awards. All of the stock options previously granted to the Company's named executive officers were exercised shortly prior to their expiration. There are currently no stock options outstanding which are held by the Company's named executive officers. The Company has not issued any restricted stock grants under the 2002 Plan. No stock options were granted to the named executive officers under the 2002 Plan in 2007.

The Company does not have any target levels of stock ownership applicable to any of its employees, including the named executive officers.

The Company has entered into incentive unit agreements with each of the named executive officers, among other employees, pursuant to which performance-based incentive units (the Incentive Units) were awarded entitling the holder thereof to a cash payment, if earned, based upon threshold increases in the Company's EBITDA (as defined by the incentive unit agreements) over the five year period commencing January 1, 2008 and ending December 31, 2012 (the Award Period). The aggregate amount of cash payments, if any, for the Award Period to all holders of Incentive Units will not be material to the Company.

Retirement Benefits

Prior to December 31, 2005, the Company had a non-contributory defined benefit pension plan (the Pension Plan) covering a significant number of its employees, including Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson, two of the Company's named executive officers; Messrs. Lapin, Schlier and Smith were not eligible to participate in the Pension Plan. On December 31, 2005, the Company froze the plan benefits under the Pension Plan for all hourly employees and certain salaried employees, including Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson. The Pension Plan continues in effect for certain other salaried employees.

On February 22, 2006, the Company entered into Supplemental Employee Retirement Plan Agreements (SERPA) with several employees of the Company, including Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson. The SERPA, which are effective as of January 1, 2006, provide certain retirement benefits based upon Messrs. Niemeyer's and Johnson's average annual wages and years of service (as defined in the SERPA). Benefits under the SERPA generally accrue from the effective date thereof through the earlier to occur of Messrs. Niemeyer's and Johnson's respective retirement, disability or termination of employment with the Company. The benefits payable under the SERPA replace, on an equivalent basis, those which otherwise would have been payable to Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson under the Pension Plan.

During 2007, the Company incurred a total expense of $364,000 for all SERPA. The Company incurred compensation expense for Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson of $60,000 and $28,000, respectively, in connection therewith. At December 31, 2007, the amount payable under all SERPA was $467,000. At December 31, 2007, the amounts payable under the SERPA for Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson were $122,000 and $50,000, respectively.

On December 28, 2006, the Company assumed the obligations of IHC, an affiliate of the Company, under a retirement benefit agreement (the Retirement Agreement) for the benefit of Mr. Lapin. Mr.

Lapin had originally entered into the Retirement Agreement on September 30, 1991; the Retirement Agreement related to services previously provided by Mr. Lapin to IHC. Pursuant to the terms of the Retirement Agreement, Mr. Lapin was entitled to receive a cash payment of $1,174,750 on September 3, 2007, or at the termination of his employment with the Company prior to September 3, 2007 in an amount set forth in a time-adjusted payment schedule. Following the assignment of the Retirement Agreement, the Company and Mr. Lapin entered into Amendment No. 1 to the Retirement Agreement whereby its term was extended until September 3, 2010, and the total potential payment thereunder was increased to $1,399,146, based on additional years of service to the Company by Mr. Lapin.

Most employees of the Company, including Messrs. Lapin and Smith, are eligible to participate in the Company's 401(k) savings plan. The Company matches employee contributions to the 401(k) savings plan at a rate of $.50 for every $1.00 contributed by each participant to a maximum 6% on compensation permitted by the Internal Revenue Service. Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson are eligible to participate in the Company's 401(k) savings plan, but are not entitled to any matching contributions from the Company.

Perquisites and Other Personal Benefits

Messrs. Niemeyer and Johnson are eligible to participate in (as are all of the Company's employees who meet service requirements under the several plans) the Company's medical and dental health insurance plans, life insurance plans and long-term disability insurance plans.

The medical and dental plans require a contributory amount to be paid by all participants. While no participant contribution is required for the life insurance plan, the Company does include the cost of those benefits that exceed $50,000 in a participant's reported income to the Internal Revenue Service. The Company provides a long-term disability plan under which the Company pays the insurance premiums.

The Company believes that the several insurance plans that are offered are important components of the comprehensive benefit package which induces employees to remain in the Company's employ.

Messrs. Lapin and Smith do not participate in the Company's medical, dental, life insurance or disability insurance plans.

Employment Agreements and Severance Packages

The Company has not entered into any employment agreements or severance packages with any of the named executive officers.

Tax Implications

Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code), limits the Company's deductions for compensation paid to the named executive officers to $1.0 million unless certain requirements are met. The policy of the Compensation Committee with respect to Section 162(m) is to establish and maintain a compensation program which will optimize the deductibility of compensation. The Compensation Committee, however, reserves the right to use its judgment, where merited by the Compensation Committee's need to respond to changing business conditions or by an executive officer's individual performance, to authorize compensation which may not, in a specific case, be fully deductible by the Company. No named executive officer received compensation in 2007 in excess of the $1 million limitation provided by Section 162(m) of the Code.

The foregoing report is provided by the undersigned members of the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors.

COMPENSATION OF DIRECTORS

Each of the independent members of the Board of Directors, Messrs. Harkavy, Lahey, Tatum and Whritner, received an annual retainer of $15,000 in the year ended December 31, 2007. The Chairperson of the Audit Committee, Mr. Tatum, received an additional annual retainer of $5,000. In addition to the retainer, the independent members of the Board of Directors received $500 for each board or committee meeting attended. Effective as of July 1, 2007, the Board of Directors appointed Mr. Edward Netter as Non-executive Chairman and set the annual retainer for such position at $225,000; Mr. Edward Netter received $112,500 in the year ended December 31, 2007 for service as Non-executive Chairman.

During the year ended December 31, 2007, the 2002 Plan provided for the automatic grant of non-qualified options to non-employee directors. Each non-employee director, upon first being elected to the Board of Directors, received an option to purchase 2,500 shares of Common Stock, which vested one year after the date of the grant of the option, assuming uninterrupted service on the Board of Directors. Additionally, the 2002 Plan provided for a grant to each non-employee director on the date of such director's reelection (provided that such director had served since such director's initial election) of an option to purchase 500 shares of Common Stock, which vested one year after the date of the grant of the option, assuming uninterrupted service on the Board of Directors.

The Company has entered into incentive unit agreements with each of the Company's non-employee directors (other than Messrs. As a result of the inception of the incentive unit agreements, the 2002 Plan was amended by the Board of Directors to eliminate (i) the automatic grant of 2,500 non-qualified stock options to non-employee members of the Board of Directors upon their initial election to the Board of Directors and (ii) the annual grant of 500 non-qualified stock options to non-employee directors upon their reelection to the Board of Directors.

REPORT OF THE AUDIT COMMITTEE

The role of the Audit Committee is to assist the Company's Board of Directors in its oversight of the Company's financial reporting process, as is more fully described in its charter, which the Board of Directors has adopted. The Company's management is responsible for its financial reporting process, including its system of internal controls, and for the preparation and presentation of its consolidated financial statements in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). The Company's independent auditors are responsible for auditing those financial statements and expressing an opinion as to their conformity with GAAP. The Audit Committee's responsibility is to monitor and review these processes. It is not the Audit Committee's duty or responsibility to conduct auditing or accounting reviews of procedures. The members of the Audit Committee are not and may not be employees of the Company. Therefore, the Audit Committee has relied without independent verification on representations by the Company's management that its financial statements have been prepared with integrity and objectivity and in conformity with GAAP. The Audit Committee has also relied on representations of the Company's independent auditors included in their report on its financial statements. The Audit Committee's oversight does not provide the Audit Committee with an independent basis to determine that management has maintained appropriate accounting and financial reporting principles or policies or appropriate internal controls and procedures designed to assure compliance with accounting standards and applicable laws and regulations. Furthermore, the Audit Committee's considerations and discussions with the Company's management and independent auditors do not assure that the Company's financial statements are presented in accordance with GAAP, that the audit of the Company's financial statements has been carried out in accordance with standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board or that the Company's independent auditors are in fact independent.

In the performance of its oversight function, the Audit Committee reviewed and discussed with the Company's management its audited financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2007.

The Audit Committee also discussed these financial statements with the Company's independent auditors, KPMG LLP (KPMG). The Audit Committee's discussions with the independent auditors included the matters required to be discussed by Statement of Auditing Standards No. 61, Communication with Audit Committees, as currently in effect. The Audit Committee also discussed with them their independence and any relationship that might affect their objectivity or independence. In connection with these discussions, the Audit Committee received and reviewed the written disclosures from KPMG required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1, Independence Discussions with Audit Committees. Finally, the Audit Committee considered whether the non-audit services provided by the independent auditors are compatible with maintaining their independence.

Based on the reviews and discussions referred to above, the Audit Committee is not aware of any relationship between the independent auditors and the Company that affects the objectivity or independence of the independent auditors. Based on these discussions and the Audit Committee's review discussed above, and subject to the limitations on the role and responsibilities of the Audit Committee referred to above and in the Audit Committee Charter, the Audit Committee recommended to the Company's Board of Directors that its audited financial statements for fiscal 2007 be included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2007 for filing with the SEC.

Respectfully submitted,

The Aristotle Corporation Audit Committee

James G. Tatum (Chairperson)
John L. Lahey
