The differences from capital consolidation are shown under the caption "Goodwill" in the accompanying consolidated balance sheet.

All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated during consolidation.

Revenue Recognition

The Company recognizes revenue when the product is shipped and provides an appropriate allowance for estimated returns and adjustments.

F-8

Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with German GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Significant estimates include the allowance for uncollectible accounts receivable, the allowance for excess and obsolete inventory, warranty accruals, other provisions, valuation allowances related to deferred tax assets and the recoverability of long-lived assets. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Edgar Filing: INVACARE CORP - Form 8-K/A

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents represent cash on hand and in the Company's bank accounts.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable are valued at the lower of their nominal value or market value at balance sheet date. A specific allowance is established for receivables with recognizable collection risks. Uncollectible receivables are written off as identified. A lump-sum allowance was established as of December 31, 2003 to take into account general default risks and discounts.

The due date for receivables and other assets is less than one year.

Financial assets are recorded at acquisition costs or at lower value as of balance sheet date.

Prepaid Expenses

Prepaid expenses include deferred taxes of EUR 146.

Inventories

Inventories are capitalized based on acquisition cost or manufacturing cost in accordance with the rules of commercial law and tax law, considering the lower of cost or market principle. Costs included in inventories represent material unit costs, material overheads, manufacturing unit cost and manufacturing overhead expenses. For slow moving inventories, appropriate valuation adjustments are recorded. Obsolescence was taken into account on an individual basis by write-downs.

Borrowing Costs

Borrowing costs are expensed as incurred.

F-9

Tangible Assets

Tangible assets are capitalized at the acquisition cost or at manufacturing cost less regular depreciation. Depreciation is carried out using a linear method according to the expected useful life of the assets. Low value items as defined by German law are written off completely in the year of acquisition.

Intangible Assets

Intangible assets with determinable useful lives are amortized using the straight-line method over their estimated period of benefit.

Goodwill arising from the first time consolidation is amortized over a period of fifteen years or valued at a lower value as appropriate at the balance sheet date.

Accruals

Other reserves and accrued liabilities are recorded in an amount which covers

all potential losses and uncertain liabilities based upon customary business judgment.

Liabilities

Liabilities are recorded at their respective repayment amount.

Lease Agreements

All lease agreements are accounted for as operating in nature.

Foreign Currencies

Assets and liabilities of foreign operations are translated at the exchange rates prevailing on the balance sheet date.

Realized gains and losses on transactions in foreign currencies are credited or charged to operations as realized. Unrealized losses on transactions in foreign currencies are also charged to operations, although unrealized gains are deferred until realized.

Other comprehensive income:
Foreign currency translation adjustment	(82)
Shareholder's equity in accordance with U.S. GAAP, on December 31	(38,448)

F-16

A description of the reconciling adjustments is as follows:

(a) Goodwill and Intangible Assets

In December 1997, 100% of the Company was acquired by certain Warburg, Pincus Ventures entities. The acquisition was financed through a combination of debt and equity. Under German GAAP, no amounts were allocated to intangible assets and the resulting goodwill was amortized over a fifteen year period. The reconciling adjustment in net income under goodwill of EUR 13,445 represents the amortization expense and was reversed for U.S. GAAP purposes.

Under U.S. GAAP, the business combination would have been accounted for under the purchase method of accounting as defined in Accounting Principles Board Opinion ("APB") No. 16, Accounting for Business Combinations, the then authoritative literature for business combinations. The cost of acquired entities at the date of acquisition would have been allocated to identifiable tangible and intangible net assets and the excess of the total purchase price over the amounts assigned to identifiable net assets was recorded as goodwill. In 2001, the Company would have changed its accounting with respect to the resulting goodwill and intangible assets pursuant to the guidance of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 142, Accounting for Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets.

Intangible assets for U.S. GAAP purposes consist primarily of business and product trademarks, trade names, developed technology and customer relationships. Intangible assets are amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives which are summarized as follows (in thousands of EUR and years):

	Estimated Useful Life	December 31, 2003
Business trademark and trade names	Indefinite	7,429
Product trademark and trade names	Indefinite	1,857

Edgar Filing: INVACARE CORP - Form 8-K/A

Developed technology	10 - 20	2,026
Customer relationships	10 - 15	13,259
Goodwill	Indefinite	65,532

Goodwill represents the excess of consideration paid over the fair value of net assets acquired in purchase business combinations and, subsequent to the adoption of SFAS No. 142 in 2001, would not be amortized under U.S. GAAP. The reconciling adjustment of EUR (2,394) in net income represents the amortization of the intangibles with finite lives under U.S. GAAP.

In accordance with SFAS No. 142, the Company evaluates the amortization period for intangible assets with finite lives to determine whether events or circumstances warranted revised amortization periods. Additionally, goodwill and indefinite-lived intangible assets are tested for impairment. Management has concluded that there is no need for changes in the finite lives assigned to the intangibles nor impairment in goodwill or the intangibles assets.

(b) Deferred Financing Costs

According to APB No. 21, Interest on Receivables and Payables, the direct costs incurred to secure a credit facility should be reported as deferred financing costs. Under U.S. GAAP, the Company capitalized the direct costs relating to the issuance of their senior credit facility and began amortizing these costs at the end of 2002 over the life of the debt instrument which is six years. Under German GAAP, the costs were expensed as incurred in 2002.

(c) Employee Stock Compensation

Under U.S. GAAP, the Company accounts for options under its stock-based compensation plans using the intrinsic value method provided by APB No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and related interpretations. The Company has two stock based compensation plans. For one of those plans, the grants made in 2003 were less than the estimated fair value at the date of the grant and accordingly compensation cost was recognized for the differences between the fair market value less the exercise price of the underlying shares that vested in 2003. The other stock based compensation plan is a variable plan and during 2003 the performance criterion under this plan was met for the first time. Compensation expense was recognized accordingly.

Under German GAAP, the compensation expense recorded was based on a conservative calculation. The excess expense is reversed for U.S. GAAP purposes to reflect the appropriate compensation expense under APB No. 25.

In connection with the purchase of the Company by the Invacare Corporation in September of 2004, the stock based compensation plans were terminated and vested options were repurchased from the respective employees.

(d) Inventoried Costs

Accounting Research Bulletin ("ARB") No. 43, Restatement and Revision of Accounting Research Bulletins provides that general and administrative costs should be included in inventories if they are clearly related to production. Under German GAAP, such expenses were not fully capitalized.

F-18

(e) Allowance for Doubtful Accounts Receivable

Under German GAAP, general reserves for accounts receivable are calculated as a percent of accounts receivable and specific reserves for known collection issues related to specific transactions or customer balances are also recorded. While the specific reserves recorded in the German GAAP financial statements do not reflect a difference in accounting between German GAAP and U.S. GAAP, the general reserves recorded by the Company were not supportable by historical bad debt write-offs, and thus do not meet the criteria for measurement and recording under U.S. GAAP.

(f) Reserve for Excess and Obsolete Inventories

Under German GAAP, obsolete and excess inventory reserves are recorded on a conservative basis. The reserves have been adjusted for U.S. GAAP reporting based on historical experience which resulted in a reduction of the reserve amounts recorded.

(g) Call Option - Financing Arrangement / Minority Interest

During 1999, the Company entered into a financing arrangement with Deutsche Bank Luxembourg S.A., Luxembourg ("Deutsche Bank"). In connection with that financing arrangement, a call option was provided to Deutsche Bank. The option provided Deutsche Bank the right to purchase 1.8% of the stated share capital of Domus Homecare (a Company subsidiary), upon certain events, one of which being the repayment of financing obligations. This option was exercised in 2003 and the Company thus sold 140,400 shares of Domus Homecare to Deutsche Bank at EUR 1 per share.

Under U.S. GAAP, this derivative instrument would be considered an extension of the initial financing arrangement and the difference between the exercise price of the option and the estimated fair market value of the Domus Homecare per share value was recorded as a liability over the vesting period (the term of the borrowing). Because this cost was expensed entirely in the 2003 German GAAP financial statements, costs related primarily to years prior to 2003 have been reflected as a U.S. GAAP reconciling adjustment. When legal share transfer occurred in 2003, the aggregate amount paid by Deutsche Bank of EUR 140 plus the previously accrued amount of EUR 421 were reclassified to minority interest reflecting the amount paid for the minority ownership interest.

The primary component of the reconciliation adjustment related to minority interest as of December 31, 2003 is due to the fact that German GAAP recognizes minority interest as a proportion of the net fair value of acquired assets and liabilities, while U.S. GAAP values minority interest at its historical book value (cost plus historical proportions of earnings).

F-19

(h) Accrued Expenses (including Warranty Expense)

Under German GAAP, accruals are normally recorded at the high-end of the possible loss range when no estimate within the range is more identifiable than any other amount. Under U.S. GAAP, the minimum amount within a range should be accrued when the liability is probable in nature, can be reasonably estimated and no specific amount within the range is more accurate than another.

(i) Building Lease

The Company entered into a lease agreement for building and land in February 2003, which was accounted for as an operating lease under German GAAP. This lease met the criteria of a capital lease in accordance with SFAS No. 13, Accounting for Leases, and therefore, the building and land were recorded as assets under U.S. GAAP. Since the land component at the inception date represented less than 25% of the total fair value of the real property subject to the lease, the lease was treated as a single unit with the estimated economic life being the life of the building (lease term 15 years). Interest expense has been calculated using an effective annual interest rate of 6% per annum.

(j) Property and Equipment (Fixed Assets)

Differences between German GAAP and U.S. GAAP relate to both the method of depreciating assets and also the related useful lives. Under German GAAP, the Company depreciated certain buildings under an accelerated method (in prior periods) over a useful life of 25 years. Under U.S. GAAP, the straight line method of depreciation would have been used and a useful life of 40 years applied. Other than buildings, the straight line method of depreciation was applied to all of the remaining property and equipment under German GAAP and U.S. GAAP. German GAAP useful lives approximate U.S. GAAP useful lives, except for buildings as mentioned above and also land improvements (German GAAP 20 years vs. U.S. GAAP 10 years).

F-20

(k) Derivative Instruments

Derivative financial instruments are utilized by the Company to manage its exposure to fluctuations in interest rates. Derivative instruments used by the Company are straightforward, non leveraged instruments. Such financial instruments are not bought and sold for trading purposes. The risk of credit loss is deemed to be remote, because the counterparties to these instruments are major international financial institutions with strong credit ratings and because of the limited positions entered into by the Company with any one institution. All derivatives, whether designated as qualifying for hedge accounting treatment or not, are recorded on the balance sheet at fair value.

The Company entered into various interest rate derivatives with Deutsche Bank on September 2001 which expired on December 31, 2003 and an interest rate cap agreement with the Bank of Nova Scotia on June 27, 2003 which expires on December 31, 2005. The Deutsche Bank derivatives related to the previous borrowing that was replaced with a senior credit facility entered into in December 2002. The interest rate cap with the Bank of Nova Scotia covers a portion of the interest paid on the new credit facility.

The primary reason for the reconciling adjustment for derivative instruments is because German GAAP does not require balance sheet fair value presentation for gain positions.

(l) Deferred Income Taxes

Under U.S. GAAP, the Company computes and records income tax in accordance with SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes. Under the asset and liability method of SFAS No. 109, deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases.

The reconciling adjustments related to deferred taxes are primarily due to the fact that deferred tax assets on loss carryforwards and deferred tax liabilities on goodwill and intangibles were not recorded or necessary according to German GAAP.

The consolidated financial statements of WP Domus GmbH ("Domus" or the "Company") have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Germany ("German GAAP"), which differ in certain aspects from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"). The application of U.S. GAAP would have affected the consolidated results of operations for the six months ended June 30, 2004 and 2003 and the consolidated balance sheet as of June 30, 2004 and 2003 to the extent described below.

A description of the reconciling adjustments is as follows:

(a) Goodwill and Intangible Assets

In December 1997, 100% of the Company was acquired by certain Warburg, Pincus Ventures entities. The acquisition was financed through a combination of debt and equity. Under German GAAP, no amounts were allocated to intangible assets and the resulting goodwill was amortized over a fifteen year period. The reconciling adjustments in net income under goodwill of EUR 6,659 for the six-month period ended June 30, 2004 and EUR 6,786 for the six-month period ended June 30, 2003 represent the amortization expense and were reversed for U.S. GAAP purposes.

Under U.S. GAAP, the business combination would have been accounted for under the purchase method of accounting as defined in Accounting Principles Board Opinion ("APB") No. 16, Accounting for Business Combinations, the then authoritative literature for business combinations. The cost of acquired entities at the date of acquisition would have been allocated to identifiable tangible and intangible net assets and the excess of the total purchase price over the amounts assigned to identifiable net assets would have been recorded as goodwill. In 2001, the Company would have changed its accounting with respect to the resulting goodwill and intangible assets pursuant to the guidance of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 142, Accounting for Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets.

Intangible assets for U.S. GAAP purposes consist primarily of business and product trademarks, trade names, developed technology and customer relationships.

Goodwill represents the excess of consideration paid over the fair value of net assets acquired in purchase business combinations and, subsequent to the adoption of SFAS No. 142 in 2001, would not be amortized under U.S. GAAP. The reconciling adjustments in net income of EUR (1,197) for the six-month period ended June 30, 2004 and EUR (1,197) for the six-month period ended June 30, 2003 represent the amortization of the intangibles with finite lives under U.S. GAAP.

(b) Deferred Financing Costs

According to APB No. 21, Interest on Receivables and Payables, the direct costs incurred to secure a credit facility should be reported as deferred financing costs. Under U.S. GAAP, the Company capitalized the direct costs relating to the issuance of its senior credit facility and began amortizing these costs at the end of 2002 over the life of the debt instrument, which is six years. Under German GAAP, the costs were expensed as incurred in 2002.

F-29

(c) Employee Stock Compensation

Under German GAAP, stock-based compensation costs are recorded on a conservative basis once the plans are in-the-money.

Under U.S. GAAP, the Company accounts for options under its stock-based compensation plans using the intrinsic value method provided by APB No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and related interpretations.

In connection with the purchase of the Company by the Invacare Corporation in September of 2004, the stock based compensation plans were terminated and vested options were repurchased from the respective employees.

Edgar Filing: INVACARE CORP - Form 8-K/A

(d) Inventoried Costs

Accounting Research Bulletin ("ARB") No. 43, Restatement and Revision of Accounting Research Bulletins provides that, under U.S. GAAP, general and administrative costs should be included in inventories if they are clearly related to production. Under German GAAP, such expenses were not fully capitalized.

(e) Allowance for Doubtful Accounts Receivable

Under German GAAP, general reserves for accounts receivable are calculated as a percent of accounts receivable and specific reserves for known collection issues related to specific transactions or customer balances are also recorded. While the specific reserves recorded in the German GAAP financial statements do not reflect a difference in accounting between German GAAP and U.S. GAAP, the general reserves recorded by the Company were not supportable by historical bad debt write-offs, and thus do not meet the criteria for measurement and recording under U.S. GAAP.

(f) Reserve for Excess and Obsolete Inventories

Under German GAAP, obsolete and excess inventory reserves are recorded on a conservative basis. The reserves have been adjusted for U.S. GAAP reporting based on historical experience which resulted in a reduction of the reserve amounts recorded.

F-30

(g) Call Option - Financing Arrangement / Minority Interest

During 1999, the Company entered into a financing arrangement with Deutsche Bank Luxembourg S.A., Luxembourg ("Deutsche Bank"). In connection with that financing arrangement, a call option was provided to Deutsche Bank. The option provided Deutsche Bank the right to purchase 1.8% of the stated share capital of Domus Homecare (a Company subsidiary), upon certain events, one of which being the repayment of financing obligations. This option was exercised in 2003 and the Company thus sold 140,400 shares of Domus Homecare to Deutsche Bank at EUR 1 per share.

Under U.S. GAAP, this derivative instrument would be considered an extension of the initial financing arrangement and the difference between the exercise price of the option and the estimated fair market value of the Domus Homecare per share value would have been recorded as a liability over the vesting period (the term of the borrowing). Because this cost was expensed entirely in the 2003 German GAAP financial statements, costs related primarily to years prior to 2003 have been reflected as a U.S. GAAP reconciling adjustment. When legal share transfer occurred in 2003, the aggregate amount paid by Deutsche Bank of EUR 140 plus the previously accrued amount of EUR 421 were reclassified to minority interest reflecting the amount paid for the minority ownership interest.

The reconciliation adjustments related to minority interest as of June 30, 2004 and 2003 are primarily due to the fact that German GAAP recognizes minority interest as a proportion of the net fair value of acquired assets and liabilities, while U.S. GAAP values minority interest at its historical book value (cost plus historical proportions of earnings).

(h) Accrued Expenses (including Warranty Expense)

Under German GAAP, accruals are normally recorded at the high-end of the possible loss range when no estimate within the range is more reasonably identifiable than any other estimate. Under U.S. GAAP, the minimum amount within a range should be accrued when the liability is probable in nature, can be reasonably estimated and no specific amount within the range is more accurate than another.

(i) Building Lease

The Company entered into a lease agreement for a building and land in February 2003, which was accounted for as an operating lease under German GAAP. This lease met the criteria of a capital lease in accordance with SFAS No. 13, Accounting for Leases, and therefore the building and land were recorded as assets under U.S. GAAP. Since the land component, at the inception date, represented less than 25% of the total fair value of the real property subject to the lease, the lease was treated as a single unit with the estimated economic life being the life of the building (lease term 15 years). Interest expense has been calculated using an effective annual interest rate of 6% per annum.

F-31

(j) Property and Equipment (Fixed Assets)

German GAAP and U.S. GAAP differ in both the method of depreciating assets and the related useful lives applied to such assets. Under German GAAP, the Company depreciated certain buildings under an accelerated method in prior periods over a useful life of 25 years. Under U.S. GAAP, the straight line method of depreciation would have been used and a useful life of 40 years applied. The straight line method of depreciation was applied to all of the remaining property and equipment under German GAAP and U.S. GAAP. German GAAP useful lives approximate U.S. GAAP useful lives, except as applied to buildings, as mentioned above, and also land improvements (German GAAP 20 years vs. U.S. GAAP 10 years).

(k) Derivative Instruments

Derivative financial instruments are utilized by the Company to manage its exposure to fluctuations in interest rates. Derivative instruments used by the Company are straightforward, non leveraged instruments. Such financial instruments are not bought and sold for trading purposes. The risk of credit loss is deemed to be remote, because the counterparties to these instruments are major international financial institutions with strong credit ratings and because of the limited positions entered into by the Company with any one institution. All derivatives, whether designated as qualifying for hedge accounting treatment or not, are recorded on the balance sheet at fair value.

Edgar Filing: INVACARE CORP - Form 8-K/A

The Company entered into various interest rate derivatives with Deutsche Bank on September 2001 which expired on December 31, 2003 and an interest rate cap agreement with the Bank of Nova Scotia on June 27, 2003 which expires on December 31, 2005. The Deutsche Bank derivatives related to the previous borrowing that was replaced with a senior credit facility entered into in December 2002. The interest rate cap with the Bank of Nova Scotia covers a portion of the interest paid on the new credit facility.

The primary reason for the reconciling adjustment for derivative instruments is because German GAAP does not require balance sheet fair value presentation for gain positions.

(1) Deferred Income Taxes

Under U.S. GAAP, the Company computes and records income tax in accordance with SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes. Under the asset and liability method of SFAS No. 109, deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases.

The reconciling adjustments related to deferred taxes are primarily due to the fact that deferred tax assets on loss carryforwards and deferred tax liabilities on goodwill and intangibles were not recorded or necessary under German GAAP.

INVACARE CORPORATION AND SUBSIDIARIES Pro Forma Financial Information - (unaudited)

The unaudited pro forma financial information of Invacare Corporation (the "Company") gives effect to the acquisition of WP Domus GmbH ("Domus"). The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet at June 30, 2004 presents adjustments for the Domus acquisition as if the transaction was completed on June 30, 2004. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of earnings for the six-month period ended June 30, 2004 and the year ended December 31, 2003 present adjustments for the Domus acquisition as if the transaction had been completed on January 1, 2004 and January 1, 2003, respectively. The Domus historical amounts are presented according to accounting principles generally accepted in Germany (German GAAP). Euro balances in the related statements of earnings were translated to U.S. dollars at the average exchange rate for the six-month period ended June 30, 2004 and the year ended December 31, 2003. Balance sheet amounts were translated from Euros to U.S. dollars at the exchange rate at June 30, 2004. Separate pro forma adjustments are reflected for converting the Domus amounts from German GAAP to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (U.S. GAAP) and for recording certain pro forma and purchase accounting adjustments.

The purchase method of accounting has been used in the preparation of the unaudited pro forma financial information. Therefore, the estimated aggregate purchase price is allocated to assets acquired and liabilities assumed based on fair values. As the purchase price allocation is preliminary, the information presented herein will differ based upon the final purchase price allocation. Upon final determination of possible office closures, sales agency transfers and other consolidation efforts, the purchase price will be allocated to the assets and liabilities acquired based on fair values as of the date of the purchase. The pro forma statements are based on available information and certain assumptions that management believes are reasonable, but are subject to change.

We have made, in our opinion, all adjustments that are necessary to present fairly the pro forma information. The unaudited pro forma financial statements do not purport to represent what the actual results of operations or financial position would have been if the acquisition of Domus as described above had occurred on the dates indicated or to project our results of operations or financial position for any future period.

The following unaudited pro forma financial information should be read in conjunction with:
