CORNERSTONE BANCORP, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS - (UNAUDITED)

(dollars in thousands)

NOTE A - BASIS OF FINANCIAL STATEMENT PRESENTATION

The accompanying unaudited interim consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Cornerstone Bancorp, Inc. (CBI), its subsidiary Cornerstone Bank (the Bank), and the Bank s subsidiary Cornerstone Business Credit, Inc. (CBC), collectively the Company . The interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for interim financial statements and the instructions to Form 10-QSB, and, accordingly, do not include all of the information and footnotes required by generally accepted accounting principles for a complete set of financial statements. While management believes that the disclosures presented are adequate so as not to make the information misleading, it is suggested that these interim consolidated financial statements be read in conjunction with the annual consolidated financial statements and notes included in the Form 10-KSB for the year ended December 31, 2004. The interim results of operations for the period ended September 30, 2005 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year ending December 31, 2005 or for any other interim period.

In the opinion of management, the accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments, consisting only of normal recurring accruals, necessary to present fairly the financial position, results of operations, changes in stockholders equity and cash flows at the dates and for the periods presented. In preparing the interim consolidated financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities as of the date of the statement of condition and revenues and expenses for the period. Actual results could differ significantly from those estimates as a result of changing conditions and future events. An estimate that is particularly critical and susceptible to significant near-term change is the allowance for loan losses.

Prior period amounts are reclassified, whenever necessary, to conform to the current period presentation.

NOTE B - EARNINGS PER SHARE

Basic earnings per share (EPS) excludes dilution and is computed by dividing income available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. For this purpose, unvested shares of restricted stock are not considered to be outstanding. Diluted EPS is computed in a similar manner, except that the weighted average number of common shares is increased (using the treasury stock method) by additional common shares that would have been outstanding if all potentially dilutive securities (such as stock options and unvested restricted stock awards) were exercised or vested during the period. For the three-month and nine month periods ended September 2005 and 2004, the number of shares for diluted EPS exceeded the number of shares for basic EPS due to the dilutive effect of outstanding stock options and unvested restricted stock. For purposes of computing basic and diluted EPS, net income applicable to common stock equaled net income for these periods.

NOTE C STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

Edgar Filing: CORNERSTONE BANCORP INC - Form 10QSB

The Company accounts for stock-based compensation in accordance with Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, and related interpretations.

Table of Contents

Accordingly, compensation expense is not recognized for fixed stock options if the exercise price of the option equals the fair value of the underlying stock at the grant date. The fair value of restricted stock awards, measured at the grant date, is recognized as unearned compensation (a component of stockholders' equity) and amortized to compensation expense over the vesting period.

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation, encourages the use of a fair-value-based method of accounting for employee stock compensation plans, but permits the continued use of the intrinsic-value-based method of accounting prescribed by APB Opinion No. 25. Under SFAS No. 123, the grant-date fair value of options is recognized as compensation expense over the vesting period (if any). The Company has elected to continue to apply APB Opinion No. 25 and disclose the pro forma information required by SFAS No. 123. Had stock-based compensation expense been recognized in accordance with SFAS No. 123, the Company's net income and earnings per common share would have been adjusted to the following pro forma amounts:

NOTE D COMPREHENSIVE INCOME (LOSS)

Comprehensive income (loss) includes net income and any changes in stockholders' equity from non-owner sources that are not recognized in the income statement (such as changes in net unrealized gains and losses on securities available for sale). Other comprehensive income (loss) reported in the statements of stockholders' equity for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004 represents the change during those periods in the after-tax net unrealized gain (loss) on securities available for sale.

NOTE E STANDBY LETTERS OF CREDIT

The Company had outstanding letters of credit of $327 at September 30, 2005 and $1,216 at December 31, 2004, respectively. Substantially all of the Company's outstanding standby letters of credit are performance standby letters of credit within the scope of FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others (FIN 45). These are irrevocable undertakings by the Company, as guarantor, to make payments in the event a specified third party fails to perform under a non-financial contractual obligation. Most of the Company's performance standby letters of credit arise in connection with lending relationships and have terms of one year or less. The maximum potential future payments the Company could be required to make equals the contract amount of the standby letters of credit referred to above. FIN 45 also requires the recognition, at fair value, of a liability by a guarantor at the inception of certain guarantees issued or modified after December 31, 2004. The Company's recognized liability for performance standby letters of credit was insignificant at September 30, 2005.

NOTE F RECENT ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

The Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued a revision of SFAS No. 123, Share-Based Payment (SFAS 123R), in December 2004, which requires an entity to recognize the grant-date fair-value of stock options and other equity-based compensation issued to employees in the income statement. SFAS 123R requires both public and non-public entities to disclose information needed about the nature of the share-based payment transactions and the effects of those transactions on the financial statements. SFAS 123R generally requires that an entity account for those transactions using the fair-value based method and eliminates an entity's ability to account for share-based compensation using the intrinsic value method of accounting in APB Opinion No. 25, which was permitted under SFAS No. 123, as originally issued. SFAS 123R is effective, for the Company, as of the beginning of the first interim or annual reporting period that begins after December 15, 2005.

In December 2003, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 46 (revised), Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities (FIN 46R), which addresses how a business enterprise should evaluate whether it has a controlling financial interest in an entity through means other than voting rights and, accordingly, should consolidate the variable interest entity (VIE). FIN 46R replaces FASB Interpretation No. 46 that was issued in January 2003. As a public company that is a small business issuer, as defined in applicable Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) regulations, the Company was required to apply FIN 46R to VIEs no later than the end of the first reporting period ending after December 15, 2004. For any VIEs that must be consolidated under FIN 46R that were created before January 1, 2004, the assets, liabilities and noncontrolling interest of the VIE initially would be measured at their carrying amounts, and any difference between the net amount added to the balance sheet and any previously recognized interest would be recorded as the cumulative effect of an accounting change. If determining the carrying amounts is not practicable, fair value at the date FIN 46R first applies may be used to measure the assets, liabilities and noncontrolling interest of the VIE. The Company currently holds no interests in VIEs and, accordingly, FIN 46R currently does not have an effect on its consolidated financial statements.

NOTE G MERGER

The shareholders of Cornerstone Bancorp, at its annual meeting held on August 10, 2005, approved the Agreement and Plan of Merger dated as of April 12, 2005 (the Merger Agreement) by and among Cornerstone Bancorp, Inc. (CBI), NewAlliance Bancshares, Inc. (NAL) and their wholly-owned subsidiaries, Cornerstone Bank and NewAlliance Bank. Subject to the terms of the Merger Agreement, CBI will merge with and into NAL (the Merger) and immediately thereafter, Cornerstone Bank will merge with and into NewAlliance Bank.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

The statements contained in this report that are not historical are forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. Examples of such forward-looking statements include, without limitation, statements regarding expectations for earnings, credit quality, and other financial and business matters. When used in this report, the words anticipate, plan, believe, estimate, expect and similar expressions as they relate to the Company or its management are intended to identify forward-looking statements. All forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from those discussed in, or implied by, the forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors, including but not limited to, competitive pressures on loan and deposit product pricing; other actions of competitors; changes in economic conditions; technological changes; the extent and timing of actions of the Federal Reserve Board, including changes in monetary policies and interest rates; customer deposit disintermediation; changes in customers' acceptance of the Bank's products and services; and the extent and timing of legislative and regulatory actions and reforms.

The forward-looking statements contained in this report speak only as of the date on which such statements are made.

Table of ContentsFINANCIAL CONDITION*General

Total assets increased to $220,943 at September 30, 2005 from $211,802 at December 31, 2004, an increase of $9,141 (or 4%). The increase in assets primarily relates to an increase in total cash and cash equivalents. This was partially offset by a decrease in total securities. The increase in cash and cash equivalents of $15,636 was attributable to an increase in deposits of $8,934, and proceeds of $7,213 from the maturity of securities held to maturity and securities available for sale.

Loans

The loan portfolio (excluding loans held for sale) increased to $133,006 at September 30, 2005 from $132,833 at December 31, 2004, an increase of $173. The increase in total loans primarily resulted from an increase in construction loans and to a lesser extent from commercial loans. The increase was largely offset by a decrease in residential loans, and to a lesser extent from a decrease in non-residential and consumer and other loans. The increase in construction loans primarily reflects new loan originations and customer advances during the period ended September 30, 2005. The increase in commercial loans was primarily due to the origination of new loans during the period ended September 30, 2005. The decrease in residential loans as well as non-residential and consumer and other loans, was primarily due to payoff activity exceeding new loan originations for the period ended September 30, 2005.

Major classifications of loans at September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004 were as follows:

	September 30, 2005	December 31, 2004	Dollar Change	Percent Change
Loans secured by real estate:

Non-performing Loans and the Allowance for Loan Losses

It is the Bank's policy to manage its loan portfolio to facilitate early recognition of problem loans. The Bank commences internal collection efforts once a loan payment is more than 15 days past due. The Bank's data processing system generates delinquency reports on all of the Bank's loans weekly, and management reviews the loan portfolio to determine if past due loans should be placed on non-accrual status. Unless the customer is working with the Bank toward repayment, once a loan payment is 90 days past due, the Bank generally initiates appropriate collection or legal action.

Table of Contents

The following table summarizes, by type of loan, the recorded investment in non-performing loans at September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004. Amounts are shown for (i) loans that were past due 90 days or more, segregated between those on non-accrual status and those that were still accruing interest, and (ii) loans that were current or past due less than 90 days for which interest payments were being applied to reduce principal balances. During the nine months ended September 2005, $297 in real estate loans on accrual status at December 31, 2004 were paid-off. These loans were replaced by a loan to one borrower which was past due greater than 90 days at September 30, 2005. The increase in commercial loans current or past due less than 90 days for which interest payments were being applied to reduce principal balances was due to the addition of one loan to one borrower during the period ended September 2005.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2004, the Bank recovered $690, of which $460 was a recovery of previously charged-off principal on loans to one borrower, and $216 was a recovery of interest that was subsequently applied to income. The ratios of the allowance for loan losses to total loans and to non-performing loans were 1.66% and 181% respectively, at September 30, 2005, compared to 1.66% and 242%, respectively, at December 31, 2004.

Securities

Total securities decreased to $43,621 at September 30, 2005 from $50,834 at December 31, 2004, a decrease of $7,213 (or 14%). The decrease in the securities portfolio was primarily due to maturities in the available for sale and held to maturity portfolios during the period ended September 30, 2005, the proceeds of which were held as cash and cash equivalents.

The following table sets forth the amortized cost and estimated fair value of the securities portfolio at the dates indicated.

Deposits

Deposits are the primary source of funds for the Company. Deposits are obtained from individuals, partnerships, small and medium size businesses and professionals in the Company's market area. The Company does not accept brokered deposits.

	September 30, 2005	December 31, 2004	Dollar Change	Percent Change
Demand (non-interest bearing)	$ 53,166	$ 42,225	$ 10,941	26%

Total deposits	$ 186,061	$ 177,127	$ 8,934	5%

Edgar Filing: CORNERSTONE BANCORP INC - Form 10QSB

The increase in deposits was primarily related to the increase of approximately $10,941 (or 26%) in demand deposits and $10,225 (or 19%) in time deposits. This was partially offset by a decrease in regular, club and money market savings of $8,158 (or 19%), as well as in money market demand and NOW of $4,074 (or 10%). The increase in demand accounts is primarily attributable to balances maintained in internal Bank checking accounts which are used to fund the payment of incoming official checks resulting from customer-related activity. The decrease in money market demand and NOW accounts was primarily attributable to activity on attorney-related NOW accounts. This was partially offset by higher balances maintained in money market demand accounts during the period ended September 30, 2005. The decrease in regular, club and money market savings was due to a decline in customer balances. The increase in time deposits was primarily attributable to increases of $12,701 in 12-17 month certificates, $3,301 in 36-47 month time deposits, $1,466 in 24-30 month time deposits and $413 in 18-23 month time deposits. This was partially offset by decreases of $2,649 in 48-59 month time deposits, $2,561 in 91-180 day time deposits and $2,145 in 181-364 day time deposits. Certificates of deposit in denominations of $100 or more were $16,347 at September 30, 2005 as compared to $12,741 at December 31, 2004, an increase of $3,606 (or 28%).

Liquidity and Capital Resources

At September 30, 2005, total short-term investments, which are made up of federal funds sold and securities maturing or callable in one year or less, totaled $47,609. The primary liquidity of the Company is measured by the ratio of net cash, short-term investments and other liquidity sources to deposits and short-term liabilities. The primary liquidity ratio at September 30, 2005 was 20.37%, compared to 20.04% at December 31, 2004. The Bank also calculates a secondary liquidity ratio which contemplates loan sales and loan payoffs anticipated to occur within one year and the maturity of available and held to maturity securities beyond one year. The Bank's secondary liquidity ratio at September 30, 2005 was 32.73%, compared to 33.38% at December 31, 2004. The Company's internal guideline is to generally maintain a primary liquidity ratio of 10 to 15% and a secondary liquidity ratio of 20% or more, although a higher primary ratio may be maintained from time to time depending on cash flow patterns and loan demand.

Net cash provided by operating activities was $2,007 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 as compared to $3,109 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, primarily due to a decrease in net income for the period ended September 2005 compared to September 2004. Net cash provided by investing activities was $6,927 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 as compared to $35,199 in net cash used in investing activities for the first nine months of 2004. The decrease in cash used in investing activities of $42,126 was primarily due to the absence of purchases in the held-to-maturity investment portfolio in the first nine months of 2005 as compared to purchases of $39,178 in the first nine months of 2004. The decline in net loan originations (other than loans held for sale) of $13,537 also contributed to the decrease in cash used in investing activities during the first nine months of 2005 compared to the same period in 2004. These decreases were partially offset by a decrease of $10,257 in proceeds from maturities and calls of securities available for sale and held to maturity during the first nine months of 2005 compared to the first nine months of 2004. The increase in net cash provided by financing activities of $16,017 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 primarily resulted from an increase of $28,123 in cash provided by customers' deposits. Cash and cash equivalents increased $15,636 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to a decrease of $41,405 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004.

At September 30, 2005, the Company had outstanding loan commitments under unused lines of credit of $23,782 and outstanding letters of credit of $328.

Table of Contents

At September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004, the Company's consolidated leverage capital ratio was 11.5% and 10.2%, respectively. At September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004, the Company's consolidated Tier 1 risk-based capital ratio was 15.6% and 14.2%, respectively. The Company's consolidated total risk-based capital ratio at September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004 was 16.9% and 15.5%, respectively. The Bank's regulatory capital ratios at these dates were substantially the same as the consolidated ratios, and the Bank was classified as a well-capitalized institution for regulatory purposes.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

General

The Company's results of operations depend primarily on its net interest income, which is the difference between the interest income on earning assets, such as loans and securities, and the interest expense paid on deposits and borrowings. Results of operations are also affected by non-interest income and expense, the provision for loan losses and income tax expense. Non-interest income includes banking service fees and charges, income on bank-owned life insurance, and gains and losses on sales of securities available for sale and loans held for sale. The Company's non-interest expense consists primarily of salaries and employee benefits, occupancy and equipment expenses, data processing expenses and professional fees. Results of operations are significantly affected by general economic and competitive conditions, particularly changes in market interest rates, government policies and actions of regulatory authorities.

Critical Accounting Policies

In the course of the Company's normal business activity, management must select and apply many accounting policies and methodologies that lead to the financial results presented in the consolidated financial statements of the Company. Some of these policies are more critical than others. Management considers the accounting policy relating to the allowance for loan losses to be a critical accounting policy because of the uncertainty and subjectivity inherent in estimating the levels of allowance needed to cover probable credit losses within the loan portfolio and the material effect that these estimates can have on the Company's results of operations. While management uses the best available information to determine the allowance for loan losses, future adjustments to the allowance may be necessary based on a variety of factors, including changes in economic and real estate market conditions, particularly in Southwestern Fairfield County, Connecticut.

All accounting policies are important and readers of this report should review these policies, as included in Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-KSB, to gain a greater understanding of how the Company's financial performance is reported.

Comparative Analysis of Operating Results for the Three Months Ended September 30, 2005 and September 30, 2004

Net Income. Net income was $403 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $536 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $133 (or 25%). Diluted earnings per common share were $0.30 and 0.42 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004, respectively, based on weighted average common shares of 1,339,884 and 1,289,047, respectively. The annualized return on average common stockholders' equity was 6.47% and 9.83% for the three months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The annualized return on average assets was 0.73% for the three months ended September 30, 2005 and 0.97% for the three months ended September 30, 2004.

The lower net income for the three months ended September 30, 2005 was primarily due to the decrease of $144 (or 22%) in non-interest income from the gain on sale of loans and loan servicing, an increase of $118 (or 10%) in salaries and employee benefits as well as increased interest expense of $114 (or 20%). This was partially offset by an increase in loan income of $273 (or 12%) for the three months ended September 30, 2005.

Net Interest Income. Net interest income is the difference between the interest income the Company earns on its loans, securities and other earning assets, and the interest cost of deposits and other interest-bearing liabilities necessary to fund these earning assets. It is the primary component of the Company's earnings.

Net interest income was $2,447 for the three months ended September 30, 2005, an increase of $191 (or 8%) from the $2,256 reported for the three months ended September 30, 2004. The average yield on interest-earning assets increased 62 basis points for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 compared to September 30, 2004, while the average rate paid on interest-bearing liabilities increased 35 basis points. The higher net interest income for the three months ended September 30, 2005 was primarily due to the growth in the loan portfolio as well as the higher level of interest rates. Total interest income increased as earning assets were shifted into higher yielding loans. These changes resulted in a 39 basis point increase in the net interest margin to 4.88% for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 compared to 4.49% for the quarter ended September 30, 2004.

Interest Income. Average earning assets for the three months ended September 30, 2005 were $200,085 compared to $201,203 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $1,118 (or 1%). Total interest income, which is a function of the volume of interest-earning assets and their related rates, was $3,121 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $2,816 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, representing an increase of $305 (or 11%), primarily due to higher interest rates.

Loans represent the largest component of interest-earning assets. Interest income on loans was $2,602 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $2,329 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $273 (or 12%). Average loans outstanding in the three months ended September 30, 2005 were $136,350 compared to $134,154 during the three months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $2,196 (or 2%). The average yield on loans increased 66 basis point to 7.57% at September 30, 2005 from 6.91% at September 30, 2004 primarily due to the higher level of interest rates in 2005.

Average investments in securities and federal funds sold were $63,735 for the three months ended

Table of Contents

September 30, 2005 compared to $67,049 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $3,314 (or 5%). Related income decreased to $519 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 from $487 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $32 (or 7%). Average investments in securities, not including federal funds sold, decreased by $10,399 (or 19%) during the three months ended September 30, 2005. Average federal funds sold increased by $7,085 (or 61%). The increase in federal funds sold was due to an increase in deposits and a decrease in securities.

Interest Expense. Interest expense was $674 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $560 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $114 (or 20%). Interest expense is a function of the volume of interest-bearing liabilities and their related rates. Average interest-bearing liabilities during the three months ended September 30, 2005 were $143,844 compared to $147,573 during the three months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $3,729 or (3%). The average rate paid on interest-bearing liabilities increased 35 basis points to 1.86% for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 compared to 1.51% for the quarter ended September 30, 2004.

Provision for Loan Losses. The periodic provision for loan losses represents the amount necessary to adjust the allowance for loan losses to management's estimate of probable credit losses inherent in the existing loan portfolio at the reporting date. Management's determination of the allowance for loan losses is based on the results of continuing reviews of individual loans and borrower relationships, particularly in the commercial and commercial real estate loan portfolios. A review of the quality of the loan portfolio is conducted internally by management on a quarterly basis, using a consistently-applied methodology, and the results are presented to the Board of Directors for approval. The evaluation covers individual borrowers whose aggregate loans are greater than $100, as well as all adversely-classified loans. Management also considers factors such as the borrower's financial condition, historical and expected ability to make loan payments and underlying collateral values. The determination of the allowance for loan losses also considers the level of past due loans, the Bank's historical loan loss experience, changes in loan portfolio mix, geographic and borrower concentrations and current economic conditions. The allowance for loan losses is also reduced by charge-offs and increased by recoveries. Management's evaluation of the allowance for loan losses indicated that the necessary provision for loan losses was $35 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 and $21 for the three months ended September 30, 2004.

Non-interest Income. Non-interest income was $500 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $644 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $144 (or 22%). The decrease in non-interest income was primarily attributable to a decrease of $153 in the net gain on sale of loans and loan servicing (and to a lesser extent to the origination and sale of mortgage loans) for the three months ended September 30, 2005 as compared to three months ended September 30, 2004.

Non-interest Expense. Total non-interest expense was $2,219 for the three months ended September 30, 2005 and $1,988 for the three months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $231 (or 12%). The increase in salaries and employee benefits results from an increase in salaries and bonuses for the three months ended September 30, 2005 compared to September 30, 2004. The increase in professional fees primarily relates to increased legal and audit fees as well as $55 in merger-related expenses recorded in the quarter ending September 30, 2005.

The following table summarizes dollar amounts for each category of non-interest expense as a percentage of total operating income (interest income plus non-interest income). Operating income increased by $161 (or 5%) in the third quarter of 2005 compared to the same period in 2004.

Category	Three months Ended September 30,
	2005	2004
Salaries and employee benefits	34.44%	32.63%
Occupancy	5.77	5.23

Comparative Analysis of Operating Results for the Nine Months Ended September 30, 2005 and September 30, 2004

Net Income. Net income was $1,078 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $2,013 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $935 (or 46%). Diluted earnings per common share were $0.82 and $1.50 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004, respectively, based on weighted average common shares of 1,321,400 and 1,342,711, respectively. The annualized return on average common stockholders' equity was 6.06% and 12.60% for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The annualized return on average assets was 0.67% for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and 1.23% for the nine months ended September 30, 2004.

The lower net income for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 was primarily due to a one-time recovery of $460 on a previously charged-off loan and $495 in one-time life insurance proceeds received during the nine month period ended September 30, 2004. This was partially offset by the increase in interest income from loans, an increase of $836 (or 12%) and a decrease of $164 (or 16%) in the provision for income taxes for the nine month period ended September 30, 2005. These increases were partially offset by merger related costs of $290 as well as a decrease of $271 (or 46%) in non-interest income from the sale of loans and loan servicing for the period ended September 30, 2005.

Net Interest Income. Net interest income is the difference between the interest income the Company earns on its loans, securities and other earning assets, and the interest cost of deposits and other interest-bearing liabilities necessary to fund these earning assets. It is the primary component of the Company's earnings.

Net interest income was $7,244 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005, an increase of $795 (or 12%) from the $6,449 reported for the nine months ended September 30, 2004. The average yield on interest-earning assets increased 74 basis points for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to the September 30, 2004 period, while the average rate paid on interest-bearing liabilities increased 18 basis points. The higher net interest income for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 was primarily due to the growth in the loan portfolio and higher interest rates. Total interest income increased as earning assets were shifted into higher yielding loans during 2005. These changes resulted in a 62 basis point increase in the net interest margin to 4.92% for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to 4.30% for the nine months ended September 30, 2004.

Interest Income. Average earning assets for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 were $198,299 compared to $201,282 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $2,983 (or 1%). Total interest income, which is a function of the volume of interest-earning assets and their related rates, was $9,168 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $8,232 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, representing an increase of $936 (or 11%).

Loans represent the largest component of interest-earning assets. Interest income on loans was $7,721 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $6,885 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $836 (or 12%). Average loans outstanding in the nine months ended September 30, 2005 were $137,841 compared to $129,149 during the nine months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $8,692 (or 7%). The average yield on loans increased 37 basis points to 7.49% at September 30, 2005 from 7.11% at September 30, 2004.

Average investments in securities and federal funds sold were $60,458 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $72,133 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $11,675 (or 16%). Related income increased to $1,447 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 from $1,347 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $100 (or 7%). Average investments in securities, not including federal funds sold, increased by $3,037 (or 7%) during the nine months ended September 30, 2005. Average federal funds sold decreased by $14,712 (or 53%). The increase in the level of interest rates in 2005 contributed to an increase in related income on federal funds sold which was partially offset by a decline in the volume of federal funds sold.

Interest Expense. Interest expense was $1,924 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $1,783 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $141 (or 8%). Interest expense is a function of the volume of interest-bearing liabilities and their related rates. Average interest-bearing liabilities during the nine months ended September 30, 2005 were $146,133 compared to $150,799 during the nine months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $4,666 (or 3%). The average rate paid on interest-bearing liabilities increased 18 basis points to 1.76% for the quarter ended September 30, 2005 compared to 1.58% for the quarter ended September 30, 2004.

Provision for Loan Losses. The periodic provision for loan losses represents the amount necessary to adjust the allowance for loan losses to management's estimate of probable credit losses inherent in the existing loan portfolio at the reporting date. Management's determination of the allowance for loan losses is based on the results of continuing reviews of individual loans and borrower relationships, particularly in the commercial and commercial real estate loan portfolios. A review of the quality of the loan portfolio is conducted internally by management on a quarterly basis, using a consistently-applied methodology, and the results are presented to the Board of Directors for approval. The evaluation covers individual borrowers whose aggregate loans are greater than $100, as well as all adversely-classified loans. Management also considers factors such as the borrower's financial condition, historical and expected ability to make loan payments and underlying collateral values. The determination of the allowance for loan losses also considers the level of past due loans, the Bank's historical loan loss experience, changes in loan portfolio mix, geographic and borrower concentrations and current economic conditions. The allowance for loan losses is also reduced by charge-offs and increased by recoveries. Management's evaluation of the allowance for loan losses indicated that the necessary provision for loan losses was $137 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and ($529) for the nine months ended September 30, 2004. Approximately $460 in principal was recovered during the nine months ended September 30, 2004 on loans to one borrower which were charged-off in December 2000.

Non-interest Income. Non-interest income was $1,362 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 compared to $2,102 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, a decrease of $740 (or 35%). This decrease was primarily attributable to the net proceeds of $495 received by the Bank on a key man life insurance policy on the former Vice Chairman during the period ended September 30, 2004. The decline in non-interest income was also attributable to a decrease of $271 in the net gain on sale of loans and loan servicing for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 due to the reduced activity as compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2004.

Non-interest Expense. Total non-interest expense was $6,560 for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and $6,072 for the nine months ended September 30, 2004, an increase of $488 (or 8%). The increase in total non-interest expense primarily relates to $290 in Merger-related expenses recorded during the nine months ended September 30, 2005 as well as additional occupancy expenses related to the Norwalk branch and increased rental expense at five offices.

The following table summarizes the dollar amounts for each category of non-interest expense, and the dollar and percent changes:

Category	Nine months Ended September 30,		Increase (Decrease) 2005 vs 2004
