NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(Unaudited)

Note 1 Interim Consolidated Financial Statements

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) for interim financial information and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) for reporting on Form 10-Q. Accordingly, certain information and footnote disclosures required for complete financial statements are not included herein. The year-end balance sheet data was derived from audited financial statements, but does not include all disclosures required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. It is recommended that these financial statements be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and related notes that appear in the Forrester Research, Inc. (Forrester) Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2013. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring adjustments) considered necessary for a fair presentation of the financial position, results of operations, of comprehensive income and of cash flows as of the dates and for the periods presented have been included. The results of operations for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 may not be indicative of the results for the year ending December 31, 2014, or any other period.

During the quarter ended March 31, 2014, the Company recorded $0.5 million of expenses for out-of-period corrections, of which $0.4 million related to depreciation and $0.1 million related to other immaterial amounts that related to prior periods. The Company has concluded that these errors are immaterial to all prior period financial statements.

Fair Value Measurements

The carrying amounts reflected in the Consolidated Balance Sheets for cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable, and accrued expenses approximate fair value due to their short-term maturities. See Note 3 Marketable Investments for the fair value of the Company s marketable investments.

Revision of quarterly financial statements

During the quarter ended December 31, 2013, the Company identified an immaterial prior period error of $0.1 million that had the effect of decreasing income tax expense for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2013. The Company has reflected in the financial information included in this Note the correction of this error in the period in which it originated (in thousands except per share amounts).

Fair Value

The Company measures certain financial assets at fair value on a recurring basis, including cash equivalents and available-for-sale securities. The fair values of these financial assets have been classified as Level 1, 2 or 3 within the fair value hierarchy as described in the accounting standards for fair value measurements.

Level 1 Fair value based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 Fair value based on inputs other than Level 1 inputs that are observable, either directly or indirectly, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities.

Level 3 Fair value based on unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and such inputs are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities.

The following table represents the Company's fair value hierarchy for its financial assets (cash equivalents and investments) measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of September 30, 2014 and December 31, 2013 (in thousands):

	As of September 30, 2014

(1) Included in cash and cash equivalents.

(2) $6.2 million are included in cash and cash equivalents at December 31, 2013 as original maturities at the time of purchase were 90 days or less.

Table of Contents

Level 2 assets consist of the Company's entire portfolio of federal, state, municipal and corporate bonds. Level 2 assets have been initially valued at the transaction price and subsequently valued, at the end of each reporting period, typically utilizing third party pricing services or other market observable data. The pricing services utilize industry standard valuation methods, including both income and market based approaches and observable market inputs to determine value. These observable market inputs include reportable trades, benchmark yields, credit spreads, broker/dealer quotes, bids, offers, current spot rates and other industry and economic events.

Note 4 Non-Marketable Investments

At September 30, 2014 and December 31, 2013, the carrying value of the Company's non-marketable investments, which were composed primarily of interests in technology-related private equity funds, was $4.1 million and $5.7 million, respectively, and is included in other assets in the Consolidated Balance Sheets.

One of the Company's investments, with a book value of $0.8 million and $0.9 million at September 30, 2014 and December 31, 2013, respectively, is being accounted for using the cost method and, accordingly, is valued at cost unless an other-than-temporary impairment in its value occurs. The other investments are being accounted for using the equity method as the investments are limited partnerships and the Company has an ownership interest in excess of 5% and, accordingly, the Company records its share of the investee's operating results each period. Gains and losses from non-marketable investments were insignificant during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 and 2013, and are included in gains (losses) on investments, net in the Consolidated Statements of Income. During the nine months ended September 30, 2014 and 2013, gross distributions of $1.5 million and $0.3 million, respectively, were received from the funds.

Note 5 Reorganization

In the first quarter of 2014 the Company terminated approximately 1% of its employees across various geographies and functions primarily to realign resources due to the Company's new organizational structure implemented in late 2013. The Company incurred $1.8 million of severance and related costs in the nine months ended September 30, 2014 related to this action. The costs under this plan are expected to be substantially paid by the end of 2014.

During 2013 the Company incurred $1.9 million of severance and related costs for the elimination of 31 jobs or approximately 2.5% of its workforce worldwide in an effort to streamline its operations.

The following table rolls forward the activity in the reorganization accrual for the nine months ended September 30, 2014 (in thousands):

	Workforce Reduction
Accrual at December 31, 2013	$ 121
Additions	1,817
Cash payments	(1,509)
Accrual at September 30, 2014	$ 429

Note 6 Net Income Per Common Share

Basic net income per common share is computed by dividing net income by the basic weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted net income per common share is computed by dividing net income by the diluted weighted average number of common shares and common equivalent shares outstanding during the period. The weighted average number of common equivalent shares outstanding has been determined in accordance with the treasury-stock method. Common equivalent shares consist of common stock issuable on the exercise of outstanding options and vesting of restricted stock units when dilutive.

Table of Contents

Basic and diluted weighted average common shares are as follows (in thousands):

Stock-Based Compensation

Forrester recognizes the fair value of stock-based compensation in net income over the requisite service period of the individual grantee, which generally equals the vesting period. Stock-based compensation was recorded in the following expense categories (in thousands):

Forrester utilizes the Black-Scholes valuation model for estimating the fair value of stock options. Options granted under the equity incentive plans and shares subject to purchase under the employee stock purchase plan were valued using the following assumptions:

In the nine months ended September 30, 2013, the Company declared and paid dividends of $9.4 million consisting of a $0.15 per share dividend in each of the first three quarters of 2013. 2014 to shareholders of record as of December 3, 2014.

Treasury Stock

Forrester's Board of Directors has authorized an aggregate $410.0 million to purchase common stock under its stock repurchase program, including $25.0 million authorized in April 2014. The shares repurchased may be used, among other things, in connection with Forrester's employee and director equity incentive and purchase plans. In the nine months ended September 30, 2014, the Company repurchased approximately 1.8 million shares of common stock at an aggregate cost of approximately $66.6 million. From the inception of the program through September 30, 2014, Forrester repurchased approximately 14.2 million shares of common stock at an aggregate cost of approximately $395.6 million.

Note 8 Income Taxes

Forrester provides for income taxes on an interim basis according to management's estimate of the effective tax rate expected to be applicable for the full fiscal year. Certain items such as changes in tax rates and tax benefits related to disqualifying dispositions of incentive stock options are treated as discrete items and are recorded in the period in which they arise.

Income tax expense for the nine months ended September 30, 2014 was $5.0 million resulting in an effective tax rate of 40.7% for the period. Income tax expense for the nine months ended September 30, 2013 was $7.0 million resulting in an effective tax rate of 39.1% for the period. The increase in the effective tax rate during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 as compared to the prior year was primarily due to the recognition of $0.2 million in the nine months ended September 30, 2014 for potential additional tax expense resulting from an on-going U.S. state audit.

Table of ContentsNote 9 Operating Segments

At the end of 2013 the Company reorganized its fulfillment organization into a single global research organization and a single global product organization to better support its client base by facilitating better research collaboration and quality, promoting a more uniform client experience and improved customer satisfaction, and encouraging innovation. During 2013 the Company also established a dedicated consulting organization to provide research-based project consulting services to its clients, allowing the Company's research personnel to spend additional time on writing research and providing shorter-term advisory services. As of January 1, 2014 the Company conformed its internal reporting to match the new organizational structure and as such is reporting segment information for the newly formed Research, Product and Project Consulting organizations. The 2013 segment amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current presentation.

The Research segment includes the costs of the Company's research personnel who are responsible for writing the research and performing the webinars and inquiries for the Company's RoleView product. In addition, the research personnel deliver advisory services (such as workshops, speeches and advisory days) and a portion of the Company's project consulting services. Revenue in this segment includes only revenue from advisory services and project consulting services that are delivered by the research personnel in this segment. During 2013, the Company began to transition the delivery of project consulting to a dedicated project consulting organization. The Company anticipates that the transition will be complete by the end of 2014 such that essentially all project consulting will be delivered by the project consulting organization in 2015.

The Product segment includes the costs of the product management organization that is responsible for pricing, packaging and the launch of new products. In addition, this segment includes the costs of the Company's data, Forrester Leadership Boards and events organizations. Revenue in this segment includes all revenue for the Company (including RoleView) except for revenue from advisory services and project consulting services that are delivered by personnel in the Research and Project Consulting segments.

The Project Consulting segment includes the costs of the consultants that deliver the Company's project consulting services. During 2013 the Company began to hire dedicated consultants to transition the delivery of project consulting services from research personnel (included in the Research segment) to the new Project Consulting segment. Revenue in this segment includes the project consulting revenue delivered by the consultants in this segment.

The Company evaluates reportable segment performance and allocates resources based on segment revenues and expenses. Segment expenses include the direct expenses of each segment organization and exclude selling and marketing expenses, general and administrative expenses, stock-based compensation expense, depreciation expense, adjustments to incentive bonus compensation from target amounts, amortization of intangible assets, reorganization costs, other income and gains (losses) on investments. The accounting policies used by the segments are the same as those used in the consolidated financial statements.

Note 10 Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In May, 2014, the FASB issued ASU No. 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, which supersedes all existing revenue recognition requirements, including most industry-specific guidance. The new standard requires a company to recognize revenue when it transfers goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration that the company expects to receive for those goods or services. The new standard will be effective for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2016, including interim periods within that reporting period. For Forrester, the standard will be effective in the first quarter of 2017. The two permitted transition methods under the new standard are the full retrospective method, in which case the standard would be applied to each prior reporting period presented, or the modified retrospective method, in which case the cumulative effect of applying the standard would be recognized at the date of initial application. The Company has not yet selected a transition method. The Company is currently evaluating the potential changes from this ASU to its future financial reporting and disclosures.

In July 2013, the FASB issued ASU No. 2013-11, Presentation of an Unrecognized Tax Benefit When a Net Operating Loss Carryforward, a Similar Tax Loss, or a Tax Credit Carryforward Exists. The standard addresses the balance sheet presentation of an unrecognized tax benefit when a net operating loss carryforward, a similar tax loss, or a tax credit carryforward exists. The standard requires that an unrecognized tax benefit, or a portion of an unrecognized tax benefit, should be presented in the financial statements as a reduction to a deferred tax asset for a net operating loss carryforward, a similar tax loss, or a tax credit carryforward. The adoption of this ASU as of January 1, 2014 did not have a material effect on the Company's financial position.

ITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Overview

This Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Words such as expects, believes, anticipates, intends, plans, estimates, or similar expressions are intended to identify these forward-looking statements. These statements include, but are not limited to, statements about the adequacy of our liquidity and capital resources, future growth rates, the continued build-out of a dedicated consulting organization, anticipated increases in our sales force, future dividends, and anticipated continued repurchases of our common stock. These statements are based on our current plans and expectations and involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual future activities and results of operations to be materially different from those set forth in the forward-looking statements. Important factors that could cause actual future activities and results to differ include, among others, our ability to retain and enrich memberships for our research products and services, technology spending, the risks and challenges inherent in international business activities, our ability to offer new products and services, our dependence on key personnel, the ability to attract and retain qualified professional staff, our ability to respond to business and economic conditions and market trends, the possibility of network disruptions and security breaches, competition and industry consolidation, and possible variations in our quarterly operating results. These risks are described more completely in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2013. We undertake no obligation to update publicly any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events, or otherwise.

We derive revenues from memberships to our research and data products and services, performing advisory services and consulting projects, and hosting events. We offer contracts for our research products that are typically renewable annually and payable in advance. Research revenues are recognized as revenue ratably over the term of the contract. Accordingly, a substantial portion of our billings are initially recorded as deferred revenue. Clients purchase advisory services independently and/or to supplement their memberships to our research. Billings attributable to advisory services and consulting projects are initially recorded as deferred revenue. Advisory service revenues, such as workshops, speeches and advisory days, are recognized when the customer receives the agreed upon deliverable. Consulting project revenues, which generally are short-term in nature and based upon fixed-fee agreements, are recognized as the services are provided. Event billings are also initially recorded as deferred revenue and are recognized as revenue upon completion of each event.

Our primary operating expenses consist of cost of services and fulfillment, selling and marketing expenses and general and administrative expenses. Cost of services and fulfillment represents the costs associated with the production and delivery of our products and services, including salaries, bonuses, employee benefits and stock-based compensation expense for research and consulting personnel and all associated editorial, travel, and support services. Selling and marketing expenses include salaries, sales commissions, bonuses, employee benefits, stock-based compensation expense, travel expenses, promotional costs and other costs incurred in marketing and selling our products and services. General and administrative expenses include the costs of the technology, operations, finance, and human resources groups and our other administrative functions, including salaries, bonuses, employee benefits, and stock-based compensation expense. Overhead costs such as facilities and service fees for cloud-based information systems are allocated to these categories according to the number of employees in each group.

Deferred revenue, agreement value, client retention, dollar retention, enrichment and number of clients are metrics we believe are important to understanding our business. We believe that the amount of deferred revenue, along with the agreement value of contracts to purchase research and advisory services, provide a significant measure of our business activity. We define these metrics as follows:

Deferred revenue billings in advance of revenue recognition as of the measurement date.

Agreement value the total revenues recognizable from all research and advisory service contracts in force at a given time (but not including advisory-only contracts), without regard to how much revenue has already been recognized.

Client retention the percentage of client companies with memberships expiring during the most recent twelve-month period that renewed one or more of those memberships during that same period.

Dollar retention the percentage of the dollar value of all client membership contracts renewed during the most recent twelve-month period to the total dollar value of all client membership contracts that expired during the period.

Table of Contents

Enrichment the percentage of the dollar value of client membership contracts renewed during the most recent twelve-month period to the dollar value of the corresponding expiring contracts.

Clients we count as a single client the various divisions and subsidiaries of a corporate parent and we also aggregate separate instrumentalities of the federal, state, and provincial governments as a single client. Client retention, dollar retention, and enrichment are not necessarily indicative of the rate of future retention of our revenue base. A summary of our key metrics is as follows (dollars in millions):

	As of September 30,		Absolute Increase (Decrease)	Percentage Increase (Decrease)
	2014	2013
Deferred revenue	$ 129.4	$ 125.8	$ 3.6	3%
Agreement value	$ 226.9	$ 210.7	$ 16.2	8%
Client retention	76%	76%
Dollar retention	89%	89%
Enrichment	97%	95%	2	2%
Number of clients	2,452	2,482	(30)	(1%)

Deferred revenue and agreement value at September 30, 2014 increased approximately 3% and 8%, respectively, compared to the prior year due primarily to increased contract bookings. Foreign exchange fluctuations had the effect of decreasing deferred revenue growth by 1%. Enrichment at 97% for the period ending September 30, 2014 is consistent with the past three quarters; however it represents a 2% increase from the prior year period. Client retention and dollar retention at September 30, 2014 have been flat or have increased slightly on a sequential basis during the prior four quarters and have now fully recovered to prior year levels.

Management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations are based upon our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP). The preparation of these financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses, and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. On an ongoing basis, we evaluate our policies and estimates, including but not limited to, those related to our revenue recognition, stock-based compensation, non-marketable investments, goodwill and other intangible assets, income taxes, and valuation and impairment of marketable investments. Management bases its estimates on historical experience, data available at the time the estimates are made and various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions. Our other critical accounting policies and estimates are described in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2013.

Total revenues increased 8% and 5% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, compared to the prior year periods due primarily to the growth in revenues from advisory services and events and to a lesser extent growth in research services. Foreign exchange fluctuations had an insignificant effect on revenue growth in each of the three and nine month periods ending September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year. While revenues from customers outside of the U.S. increased 3% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year periods, the percentage of revenues attributable to customers outside of the U.S. decreased by one percentage point during the three months ended September 30, 2014 and was unchanged during the nine months ended September 30, 2014, each as compared to the prior year periods. Foreign exchange fluctuations had an insignificant effect on foreign revenue growth during the three months ended September 30, 2014 and an effect of increasing revenue growth by 1% during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year. We continue to experience stronger growth during 2014 in the U.S. region compared to outside of the U.S. Strong growth in the Asia Pacific region and Canada was partially offset by a revenue decline (on a constant currency basis) in the European region.

Research services revenues are recognized as revenue primarily on a ratable basis over the term of the contracts, which are generally twelve-month periods. Research services revenues increased 2% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year, which is primarily consistent with the related contract bookings growth during this period. Compared to the corresponding prior year periods, revenues from our data subscription products declined by approximately $0.2 million and $2.0 million during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, the majority of which is due to the phasing out of our Tech Marketing Navigator product that began in 2013. The decline in data subscription revenues was offset by growth in our research product revenues.

Revenue from advisory services and events increased 24% and 13% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, compared to the prior year periods. The increase was driven by strong growth in advisory and consulting revenues due primarily to strong demand for both advisory and consulting services and an increase in consulting headcount as we complete the build out of a dedicated consulting organization that began in 2013. We expect the growth rate in future periods for advisory and consulting revenues to decrease from the growth rate experienced in the three months ended September 30, 2014 as the year-over-year increase in headcount will slow in future periods as we complete the build out of the consulting organization and due to a historically high delivery of advisory and consulting revenue in the three months ended September 30, 2014. Events revenues were insignificant during the three months ended September 30, 2014 and 2013 and increased 7% during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year due to higher ticket and sponsorship revenues.

Please refer to the Segments Results section below for a discussion of revenues and expenses by segment.

Cost of Services and Fulfillment

	Three Months Ended September 30,		Absolute Increase (Decrease)	Percentage Increase (Decrease)
	2014	2013
Cost of services and fulfillment (dollars in millions)	$ 30.1	$ 27.6	$ 2.5	9%

Cost of services and fulfillment as a percentage of total revenues	40.2%	38.8%	1.4	4%
--	-------	-------	-----	----

The increase in cost of services and fulfillment expenses during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year periods is primarily due to a $1.8 million and $6.2 million increase in compensation and benefit costs, respectively, resulting primarily from an increase in the number of employees (primarily consulting and product specialist employees) and annual merit increases, partially offset by lower incentive bonus expense. We hired additional consulting employees during 2013 and 2014 to build out a dedicated consulting organization to provide research-based project consulting services to our clients, allowing our analysts to spend additional time on writing research and providing shorter-term advisory services. In addition, both periods in 2014 include increased costs for the Forrester events, increased costs for travel and entertainment and increased facility costs.

Selling and marketing expenses (dollars in millions)	$ 86.2	$ 79.6	$ 6.6	8%
Selling and marketing expenses as a percentage of total revenues	37.3%	36.1%	1.2	3%

The increase in selling and marketing expenses during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year periods is primarily due to a $1.9 million and $5.7 million increase in compensation and benefit costs, respectively, resulting from an increase in sales employees, annual merit increases and increased commission costs, partially offset by lower incentive bonus expense. During the three months ended September 30, 2014 we also incurred increased facility costs that were offset by lower professional service costs and travel and entertainment costs. In addition to the costs as described for the three months ended September 30, 2014, we also incurred increased costs during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 due to a larger sales kick off meeting in 2014 and costs to terminate a contract with an independent international sales representative.

Subject to the business environment, we intend to expand our quota carrying sales force by approximately 7% to 9% in 2014 as compared to 2013. Any resulting increase in contract bookings of our research services would generally be recognized over a twelve-month period, which typically results in an increase in selling and marketing expense as a percentage of revenues during periods of sales force expansion.

General and Administrative

	Three Months Ended September 30,		Absolute	Percentage
	2014	2013	Increase (Decrease)	Increase (Decrease)

General and administrative expenses (dollars in millions)	$ 29.4	$ 27.2	$ 2.2	8%
General and administrative expenses as a percentage of total revenues	12.7%	12.4%	0.3	2%

The increase in general and administrative expenses during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year periods is primarily due to a $0.2 million and $0.7 million increase, respectively, in compensation and benefits costs resulting from increased headcount, annual merit increases and increased payroll taxes, partially offset by lower incentive bonus expense. Other cost increases during 2014 include professional services due to the implementation of cloud-based software services, stock compensation costs due in part to lower employee turnover in 2014 and recruiting costs due to increased hiring in 2014 primarily for consulting and sales employees.

Depreciation

Depreciation expense during the three months ended September 30, 2014 was consistent with the prior year, and during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 increased by $0.3 million compared to the prior year. The $0.3 million increase during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 is due to a $0.4 million adjustment recorded during the three months ended March 31, 2014 to correct an immaterial understatement of depreciation expense of approximately $0.2 million in each of 2013 and 2012.

Table of ContentsAmortization of Intangible Assets

Amortization expense remained essentially consistent during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year.

Reorganization Costs

During the nine months ended September 30, 2014 we incurred $1.8 million of severance and related costs for the termination of approximately 1% of our employees across various geographies and functions primarily to realign resources due to our new organizational structure implemented in late 2013. The costs under this plan are expected to be substantially paid by the end of 2014.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2013 we incurred $1.9 million of severance and related costs for the elimination of 31 jobs or approximately 2.5% of our workforce worldwide in an effort to streamline our operations.

Other Income, Net

Other income, net primarily consists of interest income on our investments as well as gains and losses on foreign currency. The increase in other income, net during the three months ended September 30, 2014 is primarily due to foreign currency gains of approximately $0.1 million during the current year quarter versus foreign currency losses of $0.3 million during the prior year quarter. The decrease in other income, net during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 is primarily due to lower interest income earned in 2014 due to lower investment balances.

Gains (Losses) on Investments, Net

Gains (losses) on investments, net primarily represent our share of equity method investment gains (losses) from our technology-related investment funds. Activity within the funds was insignificant during the 2014 and 2013 periods.

Provision for Income Taxes

	Three Months Ended September 30,		Absolute	Percentage
	2014	2013	Increase (Decrease)	Increase (Decrease)
Provision for income taxes (dollars in millions)	$ 2.0	$ 1.7	$ 0.3	16%
Effective tax rate	39.8%	40.9%	(1.1)	(3%)

	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Absolute	Percentage
	2014	2013	Increase (Decrease)	Increase (Decrease)
Provision for income taxes (dollars in millions)	$ 5.0	$ 7.0	$ (2.0)	(29%)
Effective tax rate	40.7%	39.1%	1.6	4%

The increase in the effective tax rate during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 as compared to the prior year period is primarily due to $0.2 million recorded in the nine months ended September 30, 2014 for potential additional tax expense resulting from an ongoing U.S. state audit.

Segment Results

At the end of 2013 we reorganized our fulfillment organization into a single global research organization and a single global product organization to better support our client base by facilitating better research collaboration and quality, promoting a more uniform client experience and improved customer satisfaction, and encouraging innovation. During 2013 we also established a dedicated consulting organization to provide research-based project consulting services to our clients, allowing our research personnel to spend additional time on writing research and providing shorter-term advisory services. As of January 1, 2014 we conformed our internal reporting to match the new organizational structure and as such we are reporting segment information for the newly formed Research, Product and Project Consulting organizations. The 2013 segment amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current presentation.

Table of Contents

The Research segment includes the costs of our research personnel who are responsible for writing the research and performing the webinars and inquiries for our RoleView product. In addition, the research personnel deliver advisory services (such as workshops, speeches and advisory days) and a portion of our project consulting services. Revenue in this segment includes only revenue from advisory services and project consulting services that are delivered by the research personnel in this segment. During 2013, we began to transition the delivery of project consulting to a dedicated project consulting organization. We anticipate that the transition will be complete by the end of 2014 such that essentially all project consulting will be delivered by the project consulting organization in 2015.

The Product segment includes the costs of the product management organization that is responsible for pricing, packaging and the launch of new products. In addition, this segment includes the costs of our data, Forrester Leadership Boards and events organizations. Revenue in this segment includes all of our revenue (including RoleView) except for revenue from advisory services and project consulting services that are delivered by personnel in the Research and Project Consulting segments.

The Project Consulting segment includes the costs of the consultants that deliver our project consulting services. During 2013 we began to hire dedicated consultants to transition the delivery of project consulting services from research personnel (included in the Research segment) to the new Project Consulting segment. Revenue in this segment includes the project consulting revenue delivered by the consultants in this segment.

We evaluate reportable segment performance and allocate resources based on segment revenues and expenses. Segment expenses include the direct expenses of each segment organization and exclude selling and marketing expenses, general and administrative expenses, stock-based compensation expense, depreciation expense, adjustments to incentive bonus compensation from target amounts, amortization of intangible assets, reorganization costs, other income and gains (losses) on investments. The accounting policies used by the segments are the same as those used in the consolidated financial statements.

Product segment revenues increased 2% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year periods. Research services revenues increased 2% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year, which is essentially consistent with the related contract bookings growth during this period. Revenues from our data subscription products declined by approximately $0.2 million and $2.0 million during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, each as compared to the corresponding prior year period, with the majority of the decline due to the phasing out of our Tech Marketing Navigator product that began in 2013. The decline in data subscription revenues was offset by growth in our research product revenues. Events revenues were $0.5 million and $9.7 million during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, representing an increase of 36% and 7%, respectively, driven by higher ticket and sponsorship revenues for the events in 2014 as compared to the prior year. Data advisory revenues were flat during the three months ended September 30, 2014 and increased approximately $0.7 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2014. Product segment expenses increased 12% and 10% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014 due primarily to a $0.8 million and $2.4 million increase, respectively, in compensation and benefit costs due to an increase in the number of employees and annual merit increases.

Research segment revenues decreased 15% and 12% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, compared to the prior year due to the ongoing transition of the performance of project consulting services from personnel in our Research segment to personnel in our Project Consulting segment. Research segment expenses decreased by 10% and 6% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, due primarily to a decrease in compensation and benefit costs due to a decrease in the number of employees in the Research segment related to the continued transition in the delivery of project consulting services to the Project Consulting segment.

Project Consulting segment revenues increased 130% and 103% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, compared to the prior year periods due primarily to the ongoing transition of the performance of project consulting services from research personnel (in the Research segment) to consulting personnel, and due to strong demand for certain consulting projects and increased headcount to deliver the projects. Project Consulting segment expenses increased 81% and 76% during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2014, respectively, due primarily to a $2.8 million and $7.4 million increase, respectively, in compensation and benefit costs due to an increase in the number of employees and annual merit increases.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

We have historically financed our operations primarily through funds generated from operations. Memberships for research services, which constituted approximately 66% of our revenues during the nine months ended September 30, 2014, are generally renewable annually and are typically payable in advance. We generated cash from operating activities of $27.9 million and $32.4 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The $4.5 million decrease in cash provided from operations for the nine months ended September 30, 2014 is primarily attributable to a decrease in net income of $3.6 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2014 compared to the prior year period and an increase in cash taxes paid during the 2014 period primarily due to the timing of estimated tax payments.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2014, we generated $24.8 million of cash from investing activities, consisting primarily of $24.4 million in net sales and maturities of marketable investments and $1.5 million of distributions from our non-marketable investments, which were partially offset by $1.1 million of purchases of property and equipment. Property and equipment purchases during 2014 consisted primarily of software and leasehold improvements. During the nine months ended September 30, 2013, we generated $43.8 million of cash from investing activities, consisting primarily of $45.8 million in net sales and maturities of marketable investments partially offset by $2.0 million of purchases of property and equipment. Property and equipment purchases during the 2013 period consisted primarily of software and leasehold improvements. We regularly invest excess funds in short and intermediate-term interest-bearing obligations of investment grade.

We used $68.7 million of cash from financing activities during the nine months ended September 30, 2014 primarily for $66.6 million of purchases of our common stock. In addition, we paid $9.1 million of dividends consisting of a $0.16 per share dividend in each of the first three quarters of 2014 and we received $6.8 million of proceeds from the exercise of stock options and our employee stock purchase plan during the nine months ended September 30, 2014. We used $104.3 million of cash from financing activities during the nine months ended September 30, 2013 primarily for $109.2 million of purchases of our common stock, of which $75.1 million was purchased through our modified Dutch auction self-tender offer and $34.1 million was purchased on the open market subsequent to completion of the self-tender offer. In addition, during the 2013 period we paid $9.4 million of dividends consisting of a $0.15 per share dividend in each of the first three quarters of 2013 and we received $14.5 million of proceeds from the exercise of stock options and our employee stock purchase plan during the nine months ended September 30, 2013.

In April 2014 our board of directors increased our stock repurchase authorization by $25 million. As of September 30, 2014 our remaining stock repurchase authorization was approximately $14.4 million. We plan to continue to repurchase our common stock during the remainder of 2014, as market conditions warrant.

As of September 30, 2014, we had cash and cash equivalents of $56.9 million and marketable investments of $55.5 million. These balances include $31.2 million held outside of the U.S. If these funds outside of the U.S. are needed for our operations in the U.S., we would be required to accrue and pay U.S. taxes to repatriate these funds. However, our intent is to permanently reinvest these funds outside of the U.S. and our current plans do not demonstrate a need to repatriate these funds for our U.S. operations. We do not currently have a line of credit and do not presently anticipate the need to access a line of credit in the foreseeable future except in the case of a significant acquisition. We believe that our current cash balance, marketable investments, and cash flows from operations will satisfy working capital, financing activities, and capital expenditure requirements for the next twelve months.

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

We maintain disclosure controls and procedures, as such term is defined under Securities Exchange Act Rule 13a-15(e), that are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in our Exchange Act reports is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the SEC's rules and forms, and that such information is accumulated and communicated to our management, including our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosures. In designing and evaluating the disclosure controls and procedures, our management recognized that any controls and procedures, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable assurance of achieving the desired control objectives and our management necessarily was required to apply its judgment in evaluating the cost-benefit
