

Section 1 - Conflict Minerals Disclosures

Item 1.01 Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

Introduction

Arrow Electronics, Inc. (herein referred to as “Arrow,” the “Company,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) is filing this Specialized Disclosure Report on Form SD (the “Conflict Minerals Report” or “CMR”) for the year ended December 31, 2017, to comply with Rule 13p-1 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Conflict Minerals Rule”). The Conflict Minerals Rule mandates certain reporting obligations on SEC registrants whose manufactured products contain conflict minerals which are necessary to the functionality or production of the product. Conflict minerals are defined as columbite-tantalite, cassiterite, wolframite, gold, and their derivatives which are limited to tin, tantalum, tungsten and gold (the “Conflict Minerals”).

Company Overview

Arrow is a global provider of products, services and solutions to industrial and commercial users of electronic components and enterprise computing solutions. The information contained in this Conflict Minerals Report pertains to the products that have been assembled or modified (“manufactured”) by Arrow or one of its subsidiaries or business units that are required to be consolidated.

Arrow does not directly purchase any Conflict Minerals from any source. Arrow does not knowingly procure any product containing Conflict Minerals from the “Covered Countries.” Arrow obtains all of the products it assembles and modifies from more than 921 suppliers.

Conflict Minerals Program Overview

Arrow utilized the internationally recognized framework “OECD Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Supply Chains of Minerals from Conflict-Affected and High-Risk Areas” (“OECD Framework”) to develop its process to identify the country of origin and chain of custody of the Conflict Minerals.

Arrow utilizes a risk-based approach to identify the suppliers of the parts used in the Products that are likely to contain Conflict Minerals, and in accordance with the OECD Framework, conducted in good faith a reasonable country of origin inquiry. Arrow used SiliconExpert Technologies, a sophisticated components database and service provider, to request that each supplier provide the country of origin and chain of custody of the Conflict Minerals contained in the parts they supplied to Arrow. Suppliers were requested to respond with a completed Responsible Minerals Initiative Conflict Minerals Reporting Template.
