CHICAGO RIVET & MACHINE CO.
 NOTES TO THE CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
 (Unaudited)

1. In the opinion of the Company, the accompanying unaudited interim financial statements contain all adjustments necessary to present fairly the financial position of the Company as of March 31, 2010 (unaudited) and December 31, 2009 (audited) and the results of operations and changes in cash flows for the indicated periods. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.
2. The results of operations for the three month period ended March 31, 2010 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year.
3. The Company extends credit on the basis of terms that are customary within our markets to various companies doing business primarily in the automotive industry. The Company has a concentration of credit risk primarily within the automotive industry and in the Midwestern United States.
4. The Company is, from time to time, involved in litigation, including environmental claims and contract disputes, in the normal course of business. While it is not possible at this time to establish the ultimate amount of liability with respect to contingent liabilities, including those related to legal proceedings, management is of the opinion that the aggregate amount of any such liabilities, for which provision has not been made, will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial position.
5. The Company's federal income tax returns for the 2008 and 2009 tax years are subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). While it may be possible that a reduction could occur with respect to the Company's unrecognized tax benefits as an outcome of an IRS examination, management does not anticipate any adjustments that would result in a material change to the results of operations or financial condition of the Company. The 2006 and 2007 federal income tax returns were examined by the IRS and no adjustments were made as a result of these examinations. No statutes have been extended on any of the Company's federal income tax filings. The statute of limitations on the Company's 2008 and 2009 federal income tax returns will expire on September 15, 2012 and 2013, respectively. The Company's state income tax returns for the 2007 through 2009 tax years remain subject to examination by various state authorities with the latest closing period on October 31, 2013. The Company is currently not under examination by any state authority for income tax purposes and no statutes for state income tax filings have been extended.
6. Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value, cost being determined by the first-in, first-out method. A summary of inventories is as follows:

	March 31, 2010	December 31, 2009
Raw material	$ 1,475,514	$ 1,324,614

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

Revenues for the first quarter of 2010 were $6,761,393, an increase of $2,002,103, or 42.1%, compared with the depressed levels of last year's first quarter, when the impact of the domestic and global recession was most severe. While the increase in sales is significant and reflects the rebound in automotive production from a year ago, as well as improvement in the overall economic environment, current year sales are still approximately 20% below the first quarter of 2008. The increase in revenue combined with previously instituted cost control measures have resulted in a net profit of $33,869, or $.04 per share, compared with a net loss of $623,861, or $0.65 per share, in the first quarter of 2009.

Fastener segment revenues were $6,039,861 in the first quarter of 2010, an increase of $2,410,431, or 66.4%, from the $3,629,430 reported in the first quarter of 2009. It also marks the fourth consecutive quarter of increased sales for the fastener segment. Sales were aided by an increase in North American car and truck production of more than 60 percent, compared with the year earlier quarter, as well as sales to new customers. In order to meet the improved demand, segment payroll was increased by $498,000 during the quarter. Through better utilization of resources, this increase left overall payroll as a smaller percentage of net sales than a year ago. However, higher state unemployment tax rates resulted in an increase in unemployment taxes of $88,000 during the first quarter. The combination of higher sales, better utilization of resources brought about by improved customer demand, and ongoing efficiency initiatives, contributed to an increase in segment gross margin of approximately $1,059,000.

Assembly equipment segment revenues declined by $408,328, or 36.1%, from $1,129,860 in the first quarter of 2009 to $721,532 in 2010. The lower net sales was primarily due to a reduction in machines shipped during the current year compared to the year earlier quarter as well as the shipment of certain high value machine orders in the first quarter of 2009. While our quoting activity for machines has been consistent with the first quarter of 2009, more companies seem to be delaying larger expenditures in the wake of the recession. Partially offsetting the decline in machine sales was improved tool sales as domestic manufacturing activity showed improvement in the first quarter of this year compared with last year. As a result of the net decline in sales, segment margins were $66,000 lower in the first quarter of 2010 than in 2009.

Selling and administrative expenses during the first quarter of 2010 were $46,241 lower than the first quarter of 2009. This reduction is approximately equal to the decline in salaries and benefits that resulted from headcount reductions achieved in the past year. While commissions have increased approximately $23,000 due to the improved sales in the quarter, reductions in various other items offset this increase.

Working capital amounted to $14.2 million at the end of the first quarter, an increase of $.1 million from the beginning of the year. During the quarter, inventories increased $.6 million as production activity improved and the cost of raw materials has moved higher. Accounts receivable increased by $.4 million during the first quarter primarily due to the greater sales activity during the first quarter of 2010, especially in the final month, compared to the fourth quarter of 2009. Partially offsetting these changes was a combined increase of $.6 million for accounts payable and accrued salaries and wages since the beginning of the year. These balances are consistent with the level of activity during the first quarter. The net result of these changes and other cash flow items on cash and certificates of deposit was a decrease of $.3 million, to $6.7 million, as of March 31, 2010. Management believes that current cash, cash equivalents and operating cash flow will provide adequate working capital for the foreseeable future.

The lingering effects of the economic crisis continue to impact our operations. While we have seen a strong recovery in overall sales during the first quarter of 2010, compared to the first quarter of 2009, it should be noted that our results in the first half of 2009 were significantly impacted by the economic crisis. Improved customer demand, combined with the adjustments we have made to our operations, have resulted in consecutive profitable quarters for the first time in two years, in a dramatically different environment than existed a few years earlier. The automotive industry, from which we derive the majority of our revenue, has rebounded strongly compared to last year, but still faces challenges related to overcapacity, a weakened supplier base and an economy that suffers from high unemployment. Amid this background, we will continue to look for opportunities to profitably grow our revenues and improve our bottom line. We also intend to continue to make adjustments to our activities where necessary, in response to conditions in our markets, while maintaining the quality our customers demand.
