the agreed sale of the Company's North American operations and the good prospects for a near-term improvement of Converium's financial strengths ratings. He will also report on the ongoing year-end renewals and the strong support Converium is experiencing from clients.

The presentation will be similar to the one given by Inga Beale, CEO of Converium, yesterday at the Sal. Oppenheim European Financials Conference in Zurich where she outlined the key drivers of Converium's profitable growth following an upgrade: First, earnings are expected to grow on the back of increasing shares of wallet in existing client relationships as well as the establishment of new relationships. Second, the combined ratio is expected to improve as the business mix shifts towards non-proportional business and administration expenses are supported by a growing volume of business. Third, returns on assets are expected to increase reflecting an optimized asset allocation through a reduction of collateralization requirements.

The presentations are available on www.converium.com.

Converium has made it a policy not to provide any quarterly or annual earnings guidance and it will not update any past outlooks for full-year earnings. It will, however, continue to provide investors with perspectives on its value drivers, certain financial guidance for the full year, its strategic initiatives and those factors critical to understanding its business and operating environment.
