FAQS Merger of Cash America and First Cash Financial Services (FCFS)

Q. What was announced?

- A. On April 28, 2016, Cash America and FCFS signed an agreement to merge. This is to be a merger between Cash America (NYSE:CSH) and FCFS (NASDAQ:FCFS). The new company name will be FirstCash, Inc. (no space between First and Cash). This is a transformational combination of the two businesses that creates compelling growth and value creation opportunities for our company and our shareholders. Please understand that the companies only signed an agreement to merge. The merger has not yet been completed and is not expected to be final until the second half of 2016.

Q. How did this come about and what are the benefits of merging companies?

- A. As we began transforming our business to focus primarily on our core business of pawn, FCFS began taking a closer look at our business and approached us about bringing our companies together late last year. We both quickly saw the logic and the significant value and upside potential in this combination. The resulting increased scale will enable us to serve more consumers in more markets than ever before. We have limited overlap of stores in most U.S. markets. We will also benefit from significant operating synergies, such as infrastructure integration, and robust cash flows that we can use to accelerate expansion. We expect that the growing Latin American region will be the primary store growth vehicle for the merged company.

Q. Who is FCFS?

A.

Edgar Filing: CASH AMERICA INTERNATIONAL INC - Form 425

FCFS was founded in 1988. Their corporate headquarters is based in Arlington, Texas. They are listed on NASDAQ under the ticker symbol FCFS with approximately a $1.4 Billion market cap. As of March 31, 2016, FCFS operates 296 pawn locations and 41 consumer loan stores in the United States. They are the largest pawn lender in the Latin America region with 908 pawn locations in Mexico, El Salvador and Guatemala as of March 31, 2016.

Q. How will the merged company be structured?

- A. The merger is anticipated to be completed sometime in the second half of 2016 (closing date). Under FirstCash, Inc.:

Dan Feehan will become Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Rick Wessel, current FCFS Chief Executive Officer and Chairman, will become the Chief Executive Officer of FirstCash, Inc. and Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors of FirstCash, Inc.

Brent Stuart will become President and Chief Operating Officer.

Doug Orr, current FCFS Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, will remain in his same role. The administrative and support functions of the two separate companies will combine, and the new world headquarters for FirstCash, Inc. will be located in the current Cash America Field Support Center (FSC) in Fort Worth at 1600 W. 7th Street. FCFS coworkers will not begin transitioning their work space to the FSC until sometime after the closing.

Q. Why do the news articles say that First Cash is buying Cash America?

- A. Because First Cash has a higher market cap than Cash America, the First Cash shareholders will own approximately 58 percent of the new entity and Cash America shareholders will own approximately 42 percent of the new entity. As a result, without digging further into the transaction details, journalists can jump to the conclusion that the transaction appears to be an acquisition rather than a merger of equals. The stock for stock merger of two comparable companies is considered a merger of equals for a number of reasons. For example, the changing of the corporate name and logo, the appointment of three Cash America board members and one new independent member to the new entity's seven member board of directors, Dan Feehan becoming the Chairman of the new entity's board of directors, Brent Stuart becoming the President and Chief Operating Officer of the new entity and moving the new entity's world headquarters to the FSC are all factors that evidence that the transaction is a merger of equals rather than an acquisition.

Q. Will there be any store closings as a result of the transaction?

- A. This transaction is about growth. We do not anticipate any significant store closings as a result of the transaction.

Q. What does the merger mean for Cash America coworkers?

- A.

It is business as usual at Cash America. Both companies will operate independently with business as usual until the closing date. However, evaluation of integration activities will be underway prior to the closing date. This may postpone current projects until a go forward strategy is determined.

Q. Will there be any changes to coworker salaries, compensation or benefits as a result of the merger?

- A. Over the next several months, FirstCash, Inc.'s employment practices including compensation and benefits programs will be determined. However, Cash America benefits programs for current Cash America coworkers will remain in place through December 31, 2016, and no substantial changes are expected to be made through December 31, 2017 without Brent's approval. The 2016 Short Term Incentive program (STI) will remain intact through the end of 2016 and will be administered per the guidelines approved by the Management Development and Compensation Committee of the Cash America Board of Directors in January 2016.

Q. What point of sale system will be used by the combined companies?

- A. It is anticipated that the point of sale system for the combined companies will transition over a period of time to the point of sale system currently being used by FCFS. The FCFS point of sale system has shown to be flexible, scalable and easy to use. We expect to immediately discontinue new development on Cashlinx and will cease the roll-out of Cashlinx to additional shops pending the closing of the transaction. After the closing, we expect that it will take approximately 18 months to transition all of our shops to the FCFS system. In the meantime we will continue to maintain and update both Cashlinx and TOPS as needed so all shops will be able to continue to operate on the systems currently in place without disruption.

Q. Will there be layoffs as a result of the merger? And if so, is there a severance plan?

- A. We don't currently expect the field operations to be affected by the merger (other than the transition to a different point of sale system). The corporate structure will be examined and there will be adjustments in functionality, programs and personnel. Current Cash America coworkers who may be impacted by the merger will be offered a severance under the current Cash America severance plans, which are anticipated to remain in place through December 31, 2017. Remember, the announcement of the transaction is just the first step in the process and we do not have all of the answers today. There are still many things to accomplish and decisions to be made before the transaction will close and we will provide periodic updates for you as the process evolves.

Q. Can I buy or sell Cash America or First Cash stock?

- A. All trades must be made only in compliance with the Company's Insider Trading Policy. You should understand that any trading activity in stock of either company will likely be heavily scrutinized by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Department of Justice, so if you believe you possess material non-public information about either company, DO NOT trade in that company's stock. If you are unsure whether or not you possess material non-public information about either company, please contact Curtis Linscott or Wendy Walton in the legal department to discuss prior to making any trade. As always, all officers and directors of the Company are required to contact Curtis or Wendy before making a trade. It is also important to watch for emails regarding the trading window, as there may be times while the transaction is pending that we need to close the trading window. If you receive such a notice, immediately cease all trading activity and cancel any orders you may have in place at that time.

Q. What are the next steps for the merger? When will the merger be completed?

- A. It is important to remember that this announcement is just the first step. Until the merger closes, which we expect to occur in the second half of 2016, we will continue to operate as a separate, independent company. It should be business as usual for all Cash America coworkers. We should all continue to focus on our business priorities and day-to-day responsibilities.

Q. What should I say if I'm contacted by media, investors or other third parties about the transaction?

- A. Aside from certain company executives, no one is authorized to speak publicly on Cash America's behalf. If you receive inquiries from the media, analysts or investors, please forward them to Yolanda Walker (817) 333-1973 or Dee Littrell (817) 570-1661.

Q. Who can I speak to if I have additional questions?

A. If you have additional questions, you may contact your manager or HR representative. We will do our best to answer questions and will provide as much information as we can, when we can.
