Subject: Update Announcement

On September 6, we passed another milestone with the announcement that the Department of Justice in the U.S. has cleared our pending acquisition of Lipman with no conditions.

I'd like to take this opportunity to update you on where we stand. The remaining key steps prior to closing will be the Lipman and VeriFone shareholder meetings, which have been scheduled, respectively, for September 14 and 15.

Israeli law requires a 30-day waiting period after the conclusion of the Lipman shareholder meeting. So, therefore, the earliest we could close is October 14. For a number of practical reasons, we expect to complete the acquisition on November 1 to coincide with the start of our new fiscal year 2007.

A few days ago, I sent out a note about the integration program we have developed to ensure we are ready for business on Day One of the merged company. Our Day One planning is proceeding along all three key tracks - sales and marketing, supply chain, and administration.

With our successful integrations of GO Software and Trintech's Payment Systems Business, we have demonstrated our ability to acquire companies without missing a beat. I am fully confident in the abilities of our teams to meet the goals we have set out to ensure that the two companies will be 100% ready to conduct business as one on all fronts come November 1.

The industrial logic behind this acquisition remains as compelling as it was when we announced it. VeriFone and Lipman are the fastest growing and most profitable providers of point of sale electronic payment technologies, and geographically, the two companies are fully complementary. There has been minimal adverse impact on our businesses since the initial announcement. We believe the fact that most of our business has been unaffected by the initial announcement reflects the complementary nature of the markets that we serve.

From November 1, the new VeriFone will represent tremendous geographical and product diversification that no other company in our industry can match. This will create great opportunities for our employees as a whole as we continue to provide increased value to our customers.

I hope you remain excited by what this acquisition represents and are each working to do your best to ensure we meet our goals for integrating Lipman into our organization.

Doug
