Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Amendment to Credit Agreement with CoBank ACB

On March 10, 2008, Pilgrim's Pride Corporation (the "Company") entered into a Seventh Amendment (the "Seventh Amendment") to Credit Agreement by and among the Company, as borrower, CoBank, ACB, as administrative agent (the "Agent"), and the other syndication parties signatory thereto, amending the 2006 Amended and Restated Credit Agreement dated as of September 21, 2006 (the "CoBank Credit Agreement"). The Seventh Amendment amends the definition of EBITDA. Prior to the Seventh Amendment, EBITDA was generally defined to mean consolidated net income, plus interest expense, taxes, depreciation and amortization expenses, and extraordinary losses, minus extraordinary gains. The Seventh Amendment modifies the definition to also add certain restructuring charges to net income in the determination of EBITDA. Restructuring charges generally include asset impairment charges, lease termination costs, severance costs, facility shutdown costs and other related restructuring charges associated with a permanent reduction in capacity, closure of plants, facilities cut-backs, plant closures or significant reconfigurations of facilities. The Seventh Amendment also, among other things, amended the CoBank Credit Agreement to allow the Agent to release its liens with respect to any facility in connection with a Shut Down (as defined in the CoBank Credit Agreement) that is included in the Available Amount Report (as defined in the CoBank Credit Agreement) without the consent of the syndication parties.

The above discussion is a summary of certain terms and conditions of the Seventh Amendment and is qualified in its entirety by the terms and conditions of the Seventh Amendment and the CoBank Credit Agreement. For the complete terms and conditions of the Seventh Amendment summarized in this report, please refer to the Seventh Amendment attached hereto as Exhibit 10.1 and incorporated by reference herein.

Amendment to Credit Agreement with Bank of Montreal

On March 11, 2008, the Company entered into a First Amendment (the "First Amendment") to Fourth Amended and Restated Secured Credit Agreement by and among the Company, To-Ricos, Ltd., To-Ricos Distribution, Ltd., Bank of Montreal, as administrative agent (the "BMO Agent"), and the other lenders signatory thereto (the "BMO Credit Agreement"). The First Amendment amends the definition of EBITDA. Prior to the First Amendment, EBITDA was generally defined to mean consolidated earnings, plus interest expense, taxes, depreciation and amortization expenses, and extraordinary losses, minus extraordinary gains. The First Amendment modifies the definition to also add certain restructuring charges to earnings in the determination of EBITDA with the consent of the BMO Agent. Restructuring charges generally include asset impairment charges, lease termination costs, severance costs, facility shutdown costs and other related restructuring charges related to or associated with a permanent reduction in capacity, closure of plants or facilities, cut-backs, plant closures or significant reconfigurations of facilities.

The above discussion is a summary of certain terms and conditions of the First Amendment and is qualified in its entirety by the terms and conditions of the First Amendment and the BMO Credit Agreement. For the complete terms and conditions of the First Amendment summarized in this report, please refer to the First Amendment attached hereto as Exhibit 10.2 and incorporated by reference herein.

Amendment to Receivables Purchase Agreement with BMO Capital Markets Corp.

On March 11, 2008, the Company entered into Amendment No. 6 (the "Sixth Amendment") to Receivables Purchase Agreement by and among the Company, Pilgrim's Pride Funding Corporation, Pilgrim's Pride Corporation, BMO Capital Markets Corp., as agent ("BMO"), and Fairway Finance Company, LLC (the "Receivables Purchase Agreement"). The Sixth Amendment, among other things, amends the definitions of EBITDA. Prior to the Sixth Amendment, EBITDA was generally defined to mean consolidated earnings, plus interest expense, taxes, depreciation and amortization expenses, and extraordinary losses, minus extraordinary gains. The Sixth Amendment modifies the definition to also add certain restructuring charges to earnings in the determination of EBITDA with the consent of the BMO. Restructuring charges generally include asset impairment charges, lease termination costs, severance costs, facility shutdown costs and other related restructuring charges related to or associated with a permanent reduction in capacity, closure of plants or facilities, cut-backs, plant closures or significant reconfigurations of facilities.

The above discussion is a summary of certain terms and conditions of the Sixth Amendment and is qualified in its entirety by the terms and conditions of the Sixth Amendment and the Receivables Purchase Agreement. For the complete terms and conditions of the Sixth Amendment summarized in this report, please refer to the Sixth Amendment attached hereto as Exhibit 10.3 and incorporated by reference herein.
