PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS

The Company

Hilb, Rogal and Hamilton Company (the "Company"), through its network of wholly-owned subsidiary insurance agencies (the "Agencies"), places various types of insurance, including property, casualty, marine, aviation and employee benefits, with insurance underwriters on behalf of its clients. The Agencies operate approximately 80 offices in 22 states. The Company's client base ranges from personal to large national accounts and is primarily comprised of middle-market commercial and industrial accounts. Insurance commissions accounted for approximately 91% of the Company's total revenues in 2000. The Company also advises clients on risk management and employee benefits and provides claims administration and loss control consulting services to clients, which contributed approximately 7% of revenues in 2000.

The Company has historically grown principally through acquisitions of independent agencies with significant local market shares in small to medium-size metropolitan areas. Since 1984, the Company has acquired 190 independent agencies. The Company's prior growth strategy emphasized acquisitions of established independent agencies staffed by local professionals and centralization of certain administrative functions to allow agents to focus on business production. The Company believes that a key to its success has been a strong emphasis on local client service by experienced personnel with established community relationships.

On May 3, 1999, the Company acquired American Phoenix Corporation, the property and casualty brokerage subsidiary of Phoenix Home Life Mutual Insurance Company, its largest acquisition to date. American Phoenix Corporation, based in Hartford, Connecticut, was the 14th largest property and casualty insurance brokerage firm in the United States. With 16 offices located primarily in the Mid-Atlantic states, New England and Florida, American Phoenix Corporation generated approximately $73 million in revenues in 1998.

The Company's current acquisition program is largely focused on acquisitions which fit into the strategic and regional plans and targets entities which provide a specialty or product expertise which can be exported throughout the Company.

The Agencies act as independent agents representing a large number of insurance companies, which gives the Company access to specialized products and capacity needed by its clients. Agencies and regions are staffed to handle the broad variety of insurance needs of their clients. Additionally, certain Agencies and regions have developed special expertise in areas such as professional liability, equipment maintenance and construction and this expertise is made available to clients throughout the regions and Company.

The Company has established direct access to certain foreign insurance markets without the need to share commissions with excess and surplus lines brokers. This direct access allows the Company to enhance its revenues from insurance products written by foreign insurers and allows it to provide a broader array of insurance products to its clients.

While the Agencies have historically been largely decentralized with respect to client solicitation, account maintenance, underwriting decisions, selection of insurance carriers and areas of insurance specialization, the Company maintains centralized administrative functions, including cash management and investment, human resources and legal functions, through its corporate headquarters. Accounting records and systems are maintained at each Agency, but the Company requires each Agency to comply with standardized financial reporting and control requirements. Through its internal auditing department, Company personnel periodically visit each Agency and monitor compliance with internal accounting controls and procedures.

The Company has created regional operating units to coordinate the efforts of several local offices in a geographic area to focus on markets, account retention, client service and new business production. The five U.S. regions are the Mid-Atlantic (Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia); Northeast (Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, New York and New Jersey); Southeast (Alabama, Georgia and Florida); Central (Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Michigan and Illinois) and West (Arizona, California, Colorado, Oregon and North Carolina). Regional management of a sizable mass of coordinated and complementary resources has enabled each Agency to address a broader spectrum of client needs and respond more quickly and expertly than each could do on a stand-alone basis. Additionally, operations were streamlined by merging multiple locations in the same city into a single profit center and converting smaller locations into sales offices of a larger profit center in the same region.

The Company derives income primarily from commissions on the sale of insurance products to clients paid by the insurance underwriters with whom the Agencies place their clients' insurance. The Company acts as an agent in soliciting, negotiating and effecting contracts of insurance through insurance companies and occasionally as a broker in procuring contracts of insurance on behalf of insureds. The Company derived in excess of 92% of its commission and fee revenue in 2000 from the sale of insurance products, principally property and casualty insurance. Accordingly, no breakdown by industry segments has been made. The balance is primarily derived from service fee income related to claims management and loss control services, program administration and workers' compensation consultative service. Within its range of services, the Company also places surplus lines coverages (coverages not available from insurance companies licensed by the states in which the risks are located) with surplus lines insurers for various specialized risks.

Insurance agents' commissions are generally a percentage of the premium paid by the client. Commission rates vary substantially within the insurance industry. Commissions depend upon a number of factors, including the type of insurance, the amount of the premium, the particular insurer, the capacity in which the Company acts and the scope of the services it renders to the client. In some cases, the Company or an Agency is compensated by a fee paid directly by the client. The Company may also receive contingent commissions which are based on the profit an insurance company makes on the overall volume of business placed with it by the Company. Contingent commissions are generally received in the first quarter of each year and, accordingly, may cause first quarter revenues and earnings to vary from other quarterly results.

The Company provides a variety of professional services to assist clients in analyzing risks and in determining whether protection against risks is best obtained through the purchase of insurance or through retention of all, or a portion of those risks, and the adoption of risk management policies and cost-effective loss control and prevention programs.

No material part of the Company's business is dependent on a single client or on a few clients, and the Company does not depend on a single industry or type of client for a substantial amount of its business. In 2000, the largest single client accounted for approximately 0.6% of the Company's total revenues.

Operating History and Acquisition Program

The Company was formed in 1982 to acquire and continue an existing insurance agency network. At that time, the Company undertook a program of consolidating agencies, closing or selling unprofitable locations and acquiring new agencies. From 1984 to March 1, 2001, a total of 190 agencies have been acquired. One hundred forty of those agencies were acquired using the purchase method of accounting at a total purchase price of approximately $302.7 million. In a purchase acquisition, the purchase price of an agency is typically paid in cash and deferred cash payments. In some cases, a portion of the purchase price may also be paid in Common Stock and, in the case of the American Phoenix acquisition, the issuance of Convertible Subordinated Debentures. From November 1, 1988 to May 1, 1995, 50 agencies were acquired under the pooling-of-interests method of accounting in exchange for a total of approximately 8.1 million shares of Common Stock of the Company.

The Company has substantial experience in acquiring insurance agencies. Generally, each acquisition candidate is subjected to a due diligence process in which the Company evaluates the quality and reputation of the business and its management, revenues and earnings, specialized products and expertise, administrative and accounting records, growth potential and location. For candidates that pass this screening process, the Company uses a pricing method that emphasizes pro forma revenues, profits and tangible net worth. As a condition to completing an acquisition, the Company requires that the principals be subject to restrictive covenants in a Company prepared form. Once the acquisition is consummated, the Company takes steps to introduce its procedures and protocols and to integrate the agency's systems and employees into the Company.

Competition

The Company participates in a very competitive industry. It is a leading independent insurance agency system serving a wide variety of clients through its network of wholly-owned subsidiaries which operate approximately 80 offices located in 22 states. Many of the Company's competitors are larger and have greater resources than the Company and operate on an international scale.

Edgar Filing: HILB ROGAL & HAMILTON CO /VA/ - Form 10-K

In some of the Agencies' cities, because no major national insurance broker has established a presence, the Company competes with local agents and private, regional firms, some of who may be larger than the Company's local Agency.

The Company is also in competition with certain insurance companies which write insurance directly for their customers, and the banking industry, as well as self-insurance and other employer sponsored programs.

Employees

As of December 31, 2000, the Company had approximately 2,200 employees. No employees are currently represented by a union. The Company believes its relations with its employees are good.

Regulation

In every state in which the Company does business, the applicable Agency or an employee is required to be licensed or to have received regulatory approval by the state insurance department in order for the Company to conduct business. In addition to licensing requirements applicable to the Company, most jurisdictions require individuals who engage in brokerage and certain insurance service activities to be licensed personally.

The Company's operations depend on the validity of and its continued good standing under the licenses and approvals pursuant to which it operates. Licensing laws and regulations vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. In all jurisdictions, the applicable licensing laws and regulations are subject to amendment or interpretation by regulatory authorities, and generally such authorities are vested with general discretion as to the grant, renewal and revocation of licenses and approvals.

ITEM 2. PROPERTIES

Except as mentioned below, the Company leases its Agencies' offices. Information on the Company's lease commitments is incorporated herein by reference to "Note H-Leases" of the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in the Company's 2000 Annual Report to Shareholders.

At December 31, 2000, the Company owned buildings in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and Victoria, Texas from which the Agencies in those cities operate.

ITEM 3. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

The Company and its Agencies have no material pending legal proceedings other than ordinary, routine litigation incidental to the business, to which it or a subsidiary is a party. With respect to the routine litigation, upon the advice of counsel, management believes that none of these proceedings, either individually or in the aggregate, if determined adversely to the Company, would have a material effect on the financial position or results of operations of the Company or its ability to carry on its business as currently conducted.

ITEM 4. SUBMISSION OF MATTERS TO A VOTE OF SECURITY HOLDERS

Edgar Filing: HILB ROGAL & HAMILTON CO /VA/ - Form 10-K

Report of Ernst & Young LLP, Independent Auditors

Shareholders and Board of Directors
Hilb, Rogal and Hamilton Company

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Hilb, Rogal and Hamilton Company and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2000 and 1999, and the related consolidated statements of income, shareholders' equity and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2000. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements and schedule based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of Hilb, Rogal and Hamilton Company and subsidiaries at December 31, 2000 and 1999, and the consolidated results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2000, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. Also, in our opinion, the related financial statement schedule, when considered in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole, presents fairly in all material respects the information set forth therein.

As explained in Note B of the consolidated financial statements, in 2000 the Company changed its method of accounting for policy cancellations.
