Edgar Filing: L3 TECHNOLOGIES, INC. - Form 425

Filed by: Harris Corporation Commission File No. 1-3863 Pursuant to Rule 425 under the Securities Act of 1933 and deemed filed pursuant to Rule 14a-12 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 Subject Company: L3 Technologies, Inc. Commission File No. 1-37975 IMO Icebreaker: Michele St. Mary and Don Letizia are Providing Guidance and Ensuring Compliance During Integration For Legal Integration Management Office (IMO) leads Michele St. Mary of Harris and Don Letizia of L3, heading up a functional team means wearing multiple hats. In addition to preparing to integrate the legal functions, including contracts, ethics and compliance, they are also tasked with advising the other IMO functional team leads to ensure compliance with the laws, rules and regulations that govern the merger. "Legal is an enabling function within the IMO," says St. Mary. "We are the intersection between the regulatory process and the larger integration team and its activities." During the integration planning phase, legal assumes an advisory role for all integration teams to ensure antitrust rules are followed, that functions are only sharing what is appropriate, and that any interactions with third parties take place within the permissible bounds. "Both companies are working closely with the Department of Justice and international antitrust authorities to obtain the regulatory approvals to close the merger as quickly as possible, but much of the timing is out of our control," says Letizia. "Patience is important." This advisory role is in addition to developing post-close legal, contracts and ethics and compliance policies and functional structure for L3Harris. "We are planning for one ethics and compliance program and the ability for all to access it on Day 1," says St. Mary. "We are also working to ensure that employees will know how to bid and contract in the combined company – it is not as different as some might think." Outside of her IMO role, St. Mary is VP, Associate General Counsel, Government Operations at Harris. She has functional ownership of the Contracts organization and she and her team provide legal support to numerous Corporate functions, including Global Business Services, IT, Global Supply Chain, Government Relations and the Counterintelligence team. St. Mary has held various roles within legal during her 14 years at Harris, including serving as the legal lead during the Exelis integration.

Letizia serves in a dual role at L3 as VP and General Counsel of the Communications and Network Systems Segment as well as VP and Deputy General Counsel of Litigation and Intellectual Property (IP) for L3 Corporate. His responsibilities range from providing counsel to segment leaders on legal issues such as contracts, compliance, ethics and IP to managing litigation and coordinating with segment lawyers on IP issues. Needless to say, St. Mary and Letizia bring a depth of experience and expertise that make them a dependable source for the guidance and counsel necessary to enable the One Team environment and a successful integration. “We engage with the IMO team members on a daily basis and the teams don’t hesitate to seek our guidance,” says Letizia. “This level of engagement is a testimony to the One Team approach that we’ve all been striving for since we formed the IMO.” While the IMO leads plan for close, both Letizia and St. Mary stress the importance of continuing to operate as two separate companies within the businesses and encourage employees to refer to the Rules of Engagement for guidance on permitted and prohibited activities during this period.
