A Combined AT&T-DirecTV Will Benefit Diverse Communities

Diversity

- AT&T has found that it serves consumers best when its policies reflect our nation's diversity. The transaction will thus serve the public interest by extending AT&T's best-in-class diversity practices and policies to both DIRECTV's employees and suppliers.
 - o Overall, our AT&T workforce is 40 percent people of color.
- o In 2013, 48 percent of new hires at AT&T were people of color and the retention rate for people of color was 88 percent.
 - o AT&T spent $15.5 billion in 2013 with diverse suppliers, which was 28 percent of our total.
- o Since 1988, hundreds of college graduates hired into AT&T have successfully completed AT&T's Leadership Development Program; 47 percent were people of color.
- o AT&T also supports the activities of 11 employee resource groups and five international employee networks with more than 61,000 members. In 2013, they accumulated 200,000 hours of volunteer time, and granted $500,000 in scholarships.
- o We offer U.S. consumers and visitors access to vital AT&T services in more than 160 languages and we have converted more than 700 retail locations nationwide to bilingual concept stores.

Prices

- This transaction should put strong downward pressure on the prices for the combined company's bundled products. That, in turn, will trigger competitive responses from competing cable providers, to the further benefit of consumers.
 - Additionally:
 - o In areas where AT&T currently offers wireline IP broadband service, the combined company will, for at least three years after closing, continue to offer standalone wireline broadband service at reasonable market-based prices, including a service with speeds of at least 6 Mbps down (where feasible) at a 12-month price no greater than $34.95 per month (provided that the price can be increased by no more than any increase in the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) for Communications every 12 months starting 12 months following deal close (subject to cost of living increases).
 - o The combined company will offer, for at least three years after closing, standalone DIRECTV satellite video service at nationwide package prices that do not differ between customers in AT&T's wireline footprint and customers outside the footprint.

Expanding Access to Broadband

- The transaction will allow AT&T to expand its fastest wireline broadband service in urban areas.
- o Prior to this transaction, AT&T announced plans to deploy fiber to the premises (FTTP) to as many as 25 major metropolitan areas.
- o

The content cost savings and other synergies of this transaction mean that AT&T will deploy its highest-speed fiber connections (U-verse FTTP) to at least 2 million more customer locations.

- o AT&T will commit to complete that deployment within four years of the transaction closing.
- The combined company will also offer fixed wireless local loop broadband to an estimated 13 million largely underserved, rural customer locations
- Widening AT&T's broadband deployment will make myriad broadband-based services available to millions of people who currently lack sufficient connectivity to enjoy them.
